6 Killed, 9 Injured In Apartment Blaze

FLAMES TRAP VICTIMS ON UPPER FLOORS

Block-Long Carolina Building Burns; Residents Jump From Windows to Escape.

100 FIREMEN IN BATTLE

Occupants Flee Blaze in Night Attire; Damage Set at $100,000.

(By Associated Press)

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—Six persons, including four women and a child, were killed and nine others injured, several critically, in an early morning fire which spread rapidly through a section of the 86-unit Guthery apartments here today.

The dead:

Mrs. Hazelie E. Martin, Charlotte, manager of a gift shop.

Miss Robena Dickinson, Wilson.

Mrs. H. R. Eley, Charlotte, a department store employe.

Miss Lucy Walton, 43, Charlotte, a private nurse.

Tommy Charity, Charlotte, the small son of Mrs. Winifred Charity, a hairdresser.

Edward Martin, about 21, Charlotte, a student.

Two of the dead were injured fatally in jumps from the blazing building.

Still Unidentified.

The most seriously injured was a young woman who had not been identified several hours after the blaze had been brought under control.

Firemen who reached the scene shortly before 2 a. m. found the block-long, three-story brick and stone structure a blazing inferno, with many persons, clad in their night clothes, trapped on the upper two stories.

Screams rent the chill damp morning air as the upper story residents, chocked by clouds of smoke, leaped to the cement alleyways on the sides of buildings. Ambulances sped the dying and injured to hospitals as 100 firemen fought the conflagration.

The fire apparently started in the basement. Fire Chief Hendrix Palmer said, however, he was at a loss to explain how the blaze spread so quickly. When the first alarm came in, the entire half of the big building was in flames.

The Guthery, situated on Tryon street, one of the city's two principal thoroughfares, is only about a block from the business section.

ROOSEVELT HITS BACK AT TOBEY

Criticizes Senator for 'Openly Advising People to Violate Census Law.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt today took direct issue with Republican Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire over the nature of the 1940 census questionnaire forms.

Although confined to his room with a slight case of grip, the president, through his secretary Stephen T. Early, sharply criticized Tobey for "openly advising the public to violate the law" by refusing to answer census questions pertaining to income.

Early explained that the White House physician forced Mr. Roosevelt to cancel all engagements today when he was found to be running a degree of fever, but announced that had the president held his press conference he would have defended the merit of the disputed census questions.

Taking cognizance of the fight Tobey is leading in the senate to force abandonment of questions relating to income, Early reported the president would have said this information was requested and endorsed by responsible business organizations and was needed by business to gauge mass buying power.

"The president would have called attention to the fact that for the first time a United States senator is openly advising the people to violate the law," Early said, "and is holding himself out as the one person who will not answer the census questions when he knows full well they are unnecessary in his case."

BUY U. S. PLANES

Sweden Places Orders For 144 American Pursuit Crafts.

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — The Swedish purchasing delegation now in the United States has concluded arrangements to buy 144 American pursuit planes at a cost of $10,000,000, it was reported unofficially today.

The delegation also was said to have contacted the American navy department for the purpose of purchasing a number of small warships.

CANDIDATES IN FINAL RUSH TO FILE TODAY

Petitions Swamp County and State Election Boards as Deadline Approaches.

37 SEEK RICHLAND POSTS

6 Entered in Dems' Governor Race; Davey to Present Petitions Today.

Candidates for state, district and county offices swamped election boards and the secretary of state today as the filing deadline approached. Petitions must be in by 6:30 p. m. today to entitle candidates to places on the May 14 primary ballots.

Ten more candidates for Richland county offices had filed today, making a total of 37 who are definitely in the contests for nominations for the 10 county posts. There is at least one candidate for every office on both tickets except treasurer and coroner. No Republicans had filed for those offices, but party leaders said they would have candidates for both before night.

State Representative Ralph C. Lutz of Lexington filed late yesterday for the Democratic nomination for congress in the 17th district, the only Democrat to file so far.

Arneson Out of 17th Race.

Dr. Ben A. Arneson of Delaware, one of the seven Democrats in the race for the party nomination in last month's special primary, announced today he would not run again.

"I do not have the time nor the money at my disposal that would be necessary to wage an active campaign at this time," he said.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor, elected last month for the unexpired term of the late Congressman William A. Ashbrook, is the only Republican who has filed for congress in the district.

In the contests for party nominations for governor, only former Governor Martin L. Davey and

LOSES FIGHT

Movie Labor Leader Ordered to Serve 18-Year-Old Term.

CHICAGO —(AP)— William Bioff, west coast movie labor leader, today was ordered to the house of correction to complete a six months sentence imposed 18 years ago for pandering.

Entering of the order, however, was delayed until March 25 to allow Bioff's attorneys to take the matter to the state supreme court.

The return to the Bridewell was ordered by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the criminal court who refused to issue a writ of habeas corpus by which Bioff sought to escape service of the term.

The issue in the case, Judge Prystalski declared, is "has the state a right after 17 years to enforce this judgment." He said he had considered the evidence carefully and found he had no jurisdiction to release Bioff.

Threatens Suit to Force City to Cut Firemen Hours

State Official Says He'll Take Steps Next Week for Court Action Unless State Law's Enforced Here.

The state today threatened court action to force the city of Mansfield to put into effect a shorter work week for municipal firemen.

According to dispatches from Columbus, Assistant State Industrial Relations Director Nelson Hovey said he would take steps next week to force compliance by the city with a new state law setting a maximum 72-hour work week for firemen.

Hovey said he planned to confer with Mayor William J. Locke and Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger and if they did not agree to comply with the law, a mandamus action would be filed against the city. City officials expressed little concern over Hovey's statement.

Firemen now work 84 hours a week. The same is true in eight other Ohio cities, all of which were warned a month ago to comply with the law passed by the legislature last fall.

Takes Action Against 2.

Court action has already been taken against Cincinnati and Dayton, which like Mansfield has pleaded that they could not afford to observe the new law for reasons of economy.

The other cities ordered to comply with the statutes are Findlay, Zanesville, Cleveland Heights, East Cleveland and Piqua.

Locke said he intended to take no action to invoke the shorter work week until he had received an opinion concerning the question from City Solicitor Marion D. Ward. The request was made by the mayor two days ago. Ward could not be reached for a statement.

"I'm not doing anything until I hear from the mayor," Seeburger asserted.

FAILS IN RESCUE

Ice Breaks as Student Tries To Save Three-Year-Old.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (U.P.) — A Fremont, O., student at Harvard college risked his life in a futile attempt yesterday to save Lena Betty Levin, 3, of Cambridge from drowning in the Charles river.

James R. Tobia, 19, a junior, heard screams of the child's three playmates, raced to the scene and crept out on the ice which broke, plunging him into five feet of water. Unable to reach the child, he struggled to shore.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta.—(U.P.)—Thirteen persons were injured, four seriously, today in a head-on collision between an eastbound Canadian Pacific passenger train and a "pusher" locomotive 20 miles west of Medicine Hat.

One engine and four cars were derailed and several hundred yards of track ripped up.

DELAYS PROJECT

Weather Holds Up West Fourth Work Until Next Week.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today that work on the West Fourth street WPA water project had been suspended until next week.

Operations on the job were closed down, he reported, after several service lines which had not been back-filled, were found frozen this morning.

He said work would be resumed as soon as the weather abated and there was no more danger from the frost.

The project includes the laying of new service lines and mains in connection with the repaving of the street by the state highway department this summer.

INDICT WOMAN

Dayton Jury Accuses Fund Worker of $27,930 Embezzlement.

DAYTON—(AP)—An indictment, charging embezzlement of $27,930 in community chest funds was returned today by the county grand jury against Mrs. Margaret Bishop, for 20 years a trusted employe of the organization.

Mrs. Bishop, following her arrest, confessed in two separate statements to the embezzlement, Prosecutor Nicholas Nolan stated. She will be formally arraigned on the indictment next Tuesday.

CAPTURE KILLERS

Police Apprehend Fugitives From Indiana Prison.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. —(AP)— Shivering in a snowstorm and weary from bewildered wandering, two killers escaped from state prison were captured south of here just before midnight.

They were Eddie Terry, 42, and Leroy Moss, 37, serving life sentences for murder.

State police in a hunting party of nearly 100 officers found them only five miles from the penitentiary.

55 TRUE BILLS RETURNED BY GRAND JURORS

39 Secret in Record Session; Accused Child Molester Indicted on 17 Counts.

65 WITNESSES EXAMINED

56 Cases Heard During Two Days; Arraignments Set for Tomorrow.

Fifty-five indictments, including 39 secret bills, were returned late yesterday by the Richland county grand jury after a two-day session during which it examined 65 witnesses in 56 cases.

It was the largest number of indictments and the most secret bills returned by a Richland county grand jury in recent years.

George Beck, 25, accused Mansfield child molester, was indicted on 17 counts, all but two of them secret, it was learned. The open indictments named him on charges of kidnaping and child stealing.

Following his arrest three weeks ago by city detectives, Beck admitted luring at least nine small girls in Mansfield and two in Crestline into his automobile and taking them into lonely sections where they escaped or were released.

15 Named in Open Bills.

At least 15 persons named in open indictments will be arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Indicted for shooting with intent to wound was John Sesler, 26, Mansfield, who allegedly fired a revolver at Adam Karbula, taxi driver, whom Sesler said was "too friendly" with Sesler's wife. The shooting occurred on East Third street while Karbula sat in his cab.

Also indicted was Washington Carter, Mansfield, colored youth, who was knocked unconscious and captured while he was attempting to burglarize the John Urdia tavern on Bowman street. Carter was cited for breaking and entering.

George L. Offenburger and Richard Southward, indicted for breaking and entering, allegedly admitted burglarizing seven houses in Mansfield. They were named specifically for entering the home of Tom Dillon.

Other indictments were returned against Ernest Fisher and Paul D. Dill for forgery; George Wilson, grand larceny; Clarence Norris, Norman McNeely, and Clifford Webb, breaking and entering; R. Harold Scott, issuing a check without funds; Earl Neal, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; Robert Dudte, breaking and entering, and Floyd L. Dawson, non-support.

It was understood that a number of the secret indictments were against men accused of non-support but who have not been arrested, while others were second or third indictments against defendants named openly.

Assistant Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz said the secret bills in a number of cases would be "held in reserve if they should be needed to convict the defendants who allegedly were involved in a number of offenses of a similar nature."

Army, Civilians Evacuate Areas Handed to Reds

Thousands of Dispossessed Residents Travel by Wagon and on Foot as They Start Hunt for New Homes; Russia to Start Occupation.

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—The Finnish army slogged through the snows today in funeral retreat, beginning its withdrawal from the fronts it so stubbornly defended in three and one-half months of war but which now are ceded to Soviet Russia.

Ahead of the soldiers there hurried 100,000 dispossed civilians. They traveled by automobile, wagon and train or on foot, herding their livestock before them and carrying bundles that were the salvage of personal property.

These 100,000 bring to about 460,000 the number who must find new homes. A half-million persons already are refugees, but 140,000 of them are from battered territories which Finland retains and to which they will be able to return.

While the Red Army held its position, marking time until Finnish troops have fallen back the required seven kilometers (about four and one-half miles) in one day, the Finnish withdrawal started at 10 a. m. along a zig-zag 226-mile front in the southeast, extending from the Virolahti archipelago on the Gulf of Finland to the Russian frontier northeast of Lake Ladoga.

These daily marches, on a schedule provided in connection with Tuesday's peace treaty, will continue until the newly-narrowed Finnish frontiers are crossed.

The entire Karelian isthmus and the area northeast of Lake Ladoga must be cleared by March 26. Withdrawal from other ceded areas north of Lieksa and in eastern Finland will begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The hollow shell of Viipuri, once the metropolis of the Karelian isthmus, will be one of the first places to be occupied by the Russians, for they already are in its outskirts and may move up tonight as soon as the Finns have put seven kilometers between them. (The Russian command had reported Viipuri was occupied five hours before hostilities ended at 11 a. m., March 13.)

PWA ASKED TO CLARIFY CHARGE

Board Wants to Be Shown How Workers on Two New Schools Were Underpaid.

Their problem still unsolved, Mansfield board of education members at a special session last night decided to ask federal PWA officials to clarify their charges that workers on the city's two new junior high school buildings had not been paid enough.

Pressed by one of the contractors for the rest of his money for work on the Johnny Appleseed school, the board also voted to ask PWA for the remaining federal funds due the school, excluding the funds which may be tied up as a result of the dispute over workers' pay.

The board still has $100,000 of the $450,000 federal grant due, but PWA officials threatened to hold up at least $13,000 of that amount unless their wage requirements are met. PWA contends that workers were underpaid $4,807.

After hearing expressions from contractors and architects last night, the board requested Clerk John H. Eisaman to write to PWA headquarters in Chicago, explain-

PACT RUMORED

Europe Hears Russia Will Seek Rumanian Treaty.

BUCHAREST, Rumania—(U.P.)—Diplomatic quarters expressed belief today that Russia was likely to offer a non-aggression pact to Rumania, with Germany's approval.

Rumania and Russian legation officials declined to comment. But it was argued that Rumania could not fulfill her trade obligations to Germany as long as she kept a big army mobilized and that she would not reduce her army so long as she feared an attack by Russia.

Hence it was said to be to Germany's advantage to promote a Russo-Rumanian pact. Alternatively there might be a German guarantee of Rumania's security.

A Rumanian government spokesman said he had no knowledge of a German-Rumanian non-aggression pact or of a German guarantee.

Word of Defensive Alliance Cheers Finns.

HELSINKI —(INS)— An official announcement that Finland, Sweden and Norway formally have agreed to resume their security negotiations stirred new hope in sorrowing Helsinki today as the nation pressed forward with its reconstruction work.

Secret negotiations were reported under way with Finland's Scandinavian states aimed at a reconstruction loan. Finnish authori-

Order Police and Firemen on Duty for 'Bank Night'

Mansfielders who take their "bank nights" from the outside looking in will not be permitted to block sidewalks in front of theaters tonight.

Mayor W. J. Locke said he had conferred with both Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Fire Chief Seeburger on keeping aisles, entrances and sidewalks open at the three theaters participating in the Friday night bank night drawings.

Theater managers informed Locke that if the entrances are blocked, it is not from overcrowding the capacity of the houses.

Seeburger said he would have firemen at each theater tonight and Bates has arranged to have enough officers on the outside to keep a free passage way through the sidewalk crowds.

Locke pointed out that aside from the danger and the inconvenience to persons who are crowded off the sidewalks, there is a city ordinance against blocking sidewalks.

SCUTTLE SHIP

Germans Sink Merchant Vessel as British Warship Nears.

LONDON —(AP)— Britain officially announced today the scuttling of the German merchant ship La Coruna, 7,414 tons, when a British warship approached her Wednesday in northern waters.

The warship picked up 60 members of the crew after the vessel was set afire and finished her off with gunfire.

The La Coruna left Rio De Janeiro Feb. 3 and apparently was trying to reach home through Norwegian waters.

The La Coruna before the outbreak of war was a passenger liner trading between Hamburg, her home port, and Rio De Janeiro and Santos.

Built in 1921 in Hamburg, she was 414 feet long and had 61-foot beam.

County Gets Relief 'Surprise,' $22,000 Released to Aid Needy

A "surprise" $22,000 relief fund will be distributed to the three relief districts in the county early next week, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today.

Released through a recent opinion of the Ohio attorney general, the funds represent public utility excise tax money which has accumulated for the past five years and will not be needed for relief bonds, the auditor said.

Mansfield and the county will get about $10,000 each and Shelby will receive approximately $1,900.

The money will be a boon to all three of the county relief areas which saw their direct relief costs climb to a new high for the year last month. In Mansfield and the county's 18 townships the costs totaled $12,252.

The unexpected funds will enable them to pay all of last month's bills and have some money left over for the March expenses.

Distribution of the funds was approved yesterday by a representative of the state auditor's office who came here to check the county's relief bond obligations.

Two Transients Sentenced for Robbing Mail Truck Here.

Accused of stealing six automobile tires from a U. S. mail truck here early in January, two colored transients were sentenced to spend a year and a day in a federal prison yesterday by Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin in Cleveland.

Arraigned in court, Wallace Wade and Alvin V. Ingram both pleaded guilty.

"We were drunk," Ingram told the court.

The pair was accused of robbing a mail truck of the tires Jan. 16, at the Pennsylvania depot and loading them on a passenger train on which they had been riding. The train was flagged down at Loudonville and the men taken into custody.

They were returned to Mansfield and later turned over to postal authorities.

NEUTRALS PAY MILLIONS DAILY IN WAR COSTS

Economic and Social Life of Swiss, Belgians, Dutch Disorganized.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Herewith is another in a series of dispatches from European capitals surveying the effects of the war on European belligerents and neutrals. The following covers the smaller neutrals of western Europe—the Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland.

By CLIFFORD L. DAY.
(UP Staff Correspondent)

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands —The European war, in which they have no part, is costing the people of the Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland millions of dollars a day.

They don't like the war, don't want to enter it and pray that it will be soon ended.

Holland is a typical example. Not a military nation, it is maintaining an army or nearly 600,000 compared to 3,000 before the war. The bulk of the new army is made up of former civilians, thus disrupting family life and throwing dependents on the government for support.

Doctors, dentists, engineers and other professional men have to make heavy personal sacrifices when they are called up, while there has been considerable bankruptcy among small businesses for the same reason.

One psychological effect on the country is illustrated by the increase in marriages, which have gone up to 8,000 a month compared to 5,000 before the war.

In actual figures, Holland so far has been forced to spend nearly 2,000,000 guilders ($1,062,200) daily in the first six months of the war to mobilize the army, rush construction of fortifications, man the frontier night and day against surprises, build air raid shelters in the cities and support the dependants of those mobilized. The country has had to float an emergency loan of 300,000,000 guilders ($1,159,330,000).

Belgium, which had the nucleus of a larger army than Holland when the war began, has had to spend about 20,000,000 francs ($680,000) a day on mobilization. A loan of 100,000,000 france ($3,400,000) was floated in recent government bonds and it is estimated that an additional 600,000,000 $20,400,000) will be needed soon.

Zurich reports that by the end of June, the war will have cost Switzerland 1,500,000,000 Swiss francs ($336,300,000) for mobilization alone, plus another 1,000,000,000 francs ($224,200,000) for extraordinary expenditures, as many of those mobilized have lost their wages and their families are thrown on communal support.

In the Netherlands, the income tax has gone up 15 per cent. Milk is up five Dutch cents to 16 a liter. Butter is up 10 cents to one guilder and eggs up three cents apiece to 6½ cents. Coffee, the favorite Dutch beverage, is up 26 cents to 48 cents a kilogram and is rationed.

Meat is highly expensive because it is mostly imported, and fish too, because the perils of war have tied up 50 per cent of the fishing fleet. The prices on restaurant menus are unstable and are revised every week, always upward.

About the only beneficiaries are those who supply government war contracts, small shopkeepers near where soldiers are stationed and theaters, movies, cafes, book sellers and other caterers to seekers of distraction.

The mobilization has deprived Belgian industry of its best workers. The coal mines, by operating only on part time, deprive the country of its most precious source of foreign exchange. Belgium is far from profiting from the war. The allies are allowing her only the pre-war volume of trade, to avoid having her becoming a supplier of Germany. The allied contraband control has seriously affected imports of copper from the Belgian Congo.

The cost of living, as elsewhere, has gone up, although there is yet no acute shortage of rationing. Cafes and restaurants were closed at 9 p. m. in the first two months of the war but it so affected public morale that the authorities were forced to end the curfew.

Peace-loving Switzerland is the nation really at arms. After a few months of the war, the bulk of the entire population of 4,200,000 was in service of one kind or another.

At the outbreak of the war, about 400,000 men, or one out of every 10, ranging in age from 20 to 52, was mobilized to defend the country's independence. Later, troops of all ages up to 60 were called up, in addition to the women for auxiliary service.

The cost of living has increased, but severe measures has restricted it so far to 5.1 per cent. The food situation is generally satisfactory and bread, butter, meat and most other victuals still are unrationed.

Every employed man and woman contributed two per cent of his salary to a special fund to take care of the dependents of mobilized men. The employer adds two per cent and the government makes an additional contribution.

From the fund, every mobilized man in the army, apart from his pay, get about 230 Swiss francs a month (about $50) for an average family with two children, thus assuring the minimum necessary for existence.

The absence of so many mobilized men is affecting the economy of the country, especially agriculture, although the army command is doing its utmost to allow farmers leave of absence. The hotel industry, an important one, has been catastrophically hit.

The basis of Swiss existence, however, is exports, largely in the luxury class, which have fallen off to a marked degree.

Figures for the quarter ending last December, the first four months of the war, were 389,000,000 francs, compared to 500,000,000 francs in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

GALION — The Galion Classroom Teachers association heard a talk by R. R. Haun, dean of Ashland college, Ashland, O., at the regular meeting of the group, Tuesday afternoon.

THEATERS

OUT in Virginia City, Neb., there'll be a hot time in the old town tomorrow night, and where once the brawling miners, prospectors, gamblers and barroom entertainers trod the muddy streets, there will be Hollywood stars, producers, technical men and bigwigs. "Virginia City" will be premiered in the old mining town, with 150 movie critics as guests of the Warner Brothers Fifty motion picture players will accompany the special train from the coast into Nebraska, among them Miriam Hopkins, Errol Flynn, Humphrey Bogart and Randolph Scott of the film's cast. Going along for the fun are Clark Gable, James O'Brien, Bette Davis, Pat O'Brien, Eddie Cantor, Ann Sheridan, the Lane sisters, Spencer Tracy, Edward G. Robinson, Jeffrey Lynn, Carole Lombard, Dorothy Lamour, Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Merle Oberon, Bob Hope, Alice Faye, Tyrone Power and many others.

* * *

Prison Story at Ohio.

One of the most attractive torsos in Hollywood comes to the Ohio theater tomorrow when "Castle On The Hudson" is shown there. The torso belongs to Ann Sheridan who is co-starred with John Garfield and Pat O'Brien. Garfield,who is doing a stage play now, will be seen in person in Mansfield next month. The theme of the story is that of a cocksure young racketeer who is sent "up the river" and leaves a girl behind. Pat O'Brien is the prison warden.

* * *

Historical Novel.

From McKinley Kantor's historical novel M-G-M has built the new starring vehicle for Wallace Beery. "The Man From Dakota" is a fast-moving drama of two Yankees in the Confederate prison of Belle Isle, one a young officer and the other a bully, a thief and general rascal. In a desperate break for freedom and a peril fraught dash for liberty the two encounter a beautiful girl who joins them. Dolores Del Rio, listed as one of the 10 most beautiful women in America, returns to pictures for this film. The film opens at the Madison tomorrow.

* * *

The James Boys.

Republic Pictures will star their new White Hope, Roy Rogers, in a series of pictures based on the lives of famous men of the old west, some of them bad and some good. The first one is "Days of Jesse James," which is a Ritz attraction. Rogers plays a law enforcement officer sent out to track down the James boys. On the same bill is a racing story, "Pride of the Bluegrass" in which Edith Fellows and James McCallion are featured, along with Gantry, the blind stunt horse

* * *

News Kids Club.

A new venture for the Park theater will be the Kiddies 1-2-3 club, which means that if a youngster attends the shows at the Park for three Saturdays in succession, they get in for nothing on the fourth Saturday. Each youngster joining the club will be given a ticket which will be punched for each attendance. The club gets under way Saturday. The bill includes one of the Edgar Wallace detectives stories. "The Secret Four," and "New Frontier" which is one of the Three Mesquiteer series with John Wayne.

* * *

Steele In Western.

"The Pal From Texas" brings Bob Steele to the Majestic today and tomorrow in one of his typical Western stories. Bob is unjustly accused of murder, the girl he loves turns against him, but in spite of these handicaps he succeeds in trapping her enemies and winning her. Ann Sothern and Franchot Tone stir up a lively and romantic dish in "Fast and Furious," the second attraction.

REOPENS DRIVE

Band Mothers Club Seeks More Funds for Uniforms.

The Band Mothers' club of Senior High school announced today that it will conduct a campaign for additional funds for new uniforms for the school band, a project which was started last October.

Mrs. R. F. Steinebrey, president of the club, said that a number of letters had been sent out to persons interested in the band and the school, stating the need for the new uniforms.

The appeal pointed out that Mansfield always has had a top-notch high school band, that it had won the state championship in 1926 and 1930, but now is handicapped in appearance by wornout uniforms.

The Band Mothers' club now has $1,092 toward the fund, $200 of which was contributed by the American Legion. Almost $1,500 is necessary before the uniforms can be purchased, it was stated.

HIKES BUILDING

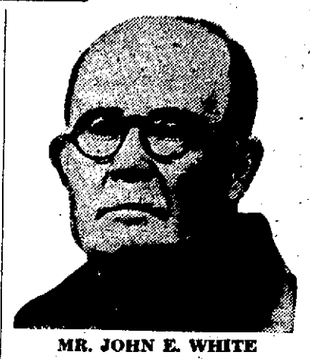
Madison and Bellville Choruses Compete In First County Music Festival Tonight

Two of the high school choral groups which will take part in the first annual Richland county music festival at 8 p. m. today in the Madison high school auditorium, are shown above. The Madison group at the left, directed by James T. Weber, will present a ten-minute program as a festival feature, while the Bellville chorus, at the right, directed by Douglas Thomas, will sing with the all-county chorus. Musical groups from Shiloh and Plymouth high schools also will take part in the festival. Planned by music supervisors and superintendents of the four schools, the festival is expected to be an annual event.

Contractor Says "My Back Was Aching All the Time"

After a day's work I would feel exhausted, legs and ankles often painful. Took Vendol and never had anything give such grand relief.



MR. JOHN E. WHITE

If there is a man or woman reading this who suffers from backache, sore painful muscles and joints, and aches throughout the body, this message is one that tells how to get relief. It comes from a highly responsible resident of this city and was given a few days ago to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store, with permission to publish it for the benefit of others who suffer from the same causes.

Mr. John E. White, well known Building Contractor who has done many big jobs in Mansfield, living at 95 Superior St., says: "I was constipated all the time, and believe all my troubles were due to this condition. When I started taking Vendol about three weeks ago I was suffering from awful backaches, and some nights, after being on my feet all day, when I removed my shoes I'd find my ankles puffed up and was seldom free of aching muscles and joints, even being an effort to straighten up when I stooped over.

"I would go to bed exhausted after a day's work, but would be restless, then awaken early in the morning and couldn't get back to sleep again.

"I was troubled a lot with sour stomach, gas, belching up little bits of undigested food, and a heavy feeling in my stomach.

"Vendol gave complete and easy relief from the constipation after which all my troubles gradually grew less till now I'm feeling as well as ever in my life. The relief this gave from backache and the painful muscles was wonderful and it's great to enjoy a long night of restful sleep again.

"I want to advise anyone suffering from the same condition as mine to start taking Vendol at once."

Rely upon Vendol, the favorite medicine of Mansfield residents for years. It is made from the finest grade roots and herbs with alkalines added for extra benefits. The action of Vendol is pleasant and prompt and what Vendol has done for other people, it can do for you if you will give it a chance.

See the Vendol Man at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., and he will explain all about this reliable family medicine. Vendol is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

IN THE RUHL BOOK

BY OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

PAUL CARBETTA is still in the running for a crack at a national boxing championship. The Mansfield flyweight was beaten in a semi-final match in the recent Cleveland Golden Gloves, and the defeat cost him a chance to compete in Chicago as well as Boston, where the national finals will be staged in the near future. However, Paulie's hopes were revived this week when he was notified that it may be necessary for him to serve as a substitute in the Boston fights. Buddy Smallwood, who won the Cleveland title, will not be able to make the trip to Boston because of a cracked hand, and Benny Mosman, who eliminated Carbetta at Cleveland, is ill. The Mansfielder is slated to take Mosman's place if he fails to recover sufficiently. The injured hand that handicapped Paul the night he was beaten in Cleveland apparently is healed as it was this mitt which was potent in his technical knockout victory over Carl Netzel at the Friendly House. Beauford Glover, Carbetta's stable mate, of course, is assured of the Boston trip.

* * *

There may be three ex-Mansfield players performing in the Pacific Coast league next summer. Steve Patras, an outfielder, who was optioned to San Diego by the Boston Red Sox at his own request, is said to be making a strong bid for an outfield post, and Frank Stinson, a catcher, is also doing well. Both collected hits in an exhibition game against the Philly A's the other afternoon. The third former Mansfielder in the loop is Johnny Barrett, who will attempt to make San Francisco fans forget Dom DiMaggio this year. The three boys were members of the 1937 Red Sox, in case you've forgotten.

Bob Wright of Huntington, W. Va., who holds both hurdle records in the Mansfield Relays, is a freshman at Ohio State and a teammate of Johnny Linta, who has returned to the Columbus school.

Mansfield Awarded District Track Meet.

PROBABLY because Harry Mehock knows more about staging track meets than anybody in these parts, the state association again saw fit to award the district eliminations to Mansfield in preference to Fremont, which was said to be angling for it. Mehock was rather surprised when he was notified of Mansfield's selection, as he did not submit a bid due to the fact that it was held in this city last spring. The date of this year's event is May 18.

A mid-western college cage club pegged at a basket 12 feet above the floor the other day, and decided extended height was a "pain in the neck." Stratospheric hoops discounted work of tall fellows, helped shorties some, but players didn't seem to like the idea. The present regulation basket height is 10 feet.

Coach Bunny Oakes of Colorado U., who was charged with kicking his players around a bit, probably will go down in history as the only coach who ever kicked his team into a conference championship.

Tom Made It Plain to American League.

PRESSURE had to be put on other American league clubs to obtain waivers on Joe Vosmik, former Red Sox outfielder, now with Brooklyn. It was only when Tom Yawkey, Sox president, made it plain that no American league club could have Vosmik on waivers that the player was permitted to leave the league.

Eddie Andersen, Iowa grid coach, addressed a high school football banquet in an armory recently. After the dinner, he invited some of the players into an adjoining room for a conference. Just a coincident that sign on the door read, "Recruiting Office."

Track Squad Drills

Mansfield Thin-Clads Show Promise in Preparations For First Meet.

By CHARLES MARTIN

WITH their initial test of the season little more than two weeks away, the Mansfield high thin-clads are settling down to serious work on the cinder paths at Stadium field.

Coach Harry Mehock has been spending most of the week looking over the talent as he prepares to cut the squad of some 80 down to 35.

* * *

The track team travels to Pittsburgh Saturday, March 30, to participate in the Pennsylvania high school indoor meet and Mehock is anxious to get his proteges in tip-top shape. The affair will be held at the University of Pittsburgh.

* * *

In the brief workouts held during the past week the Mansfield youngsters have been impressive and Mehock has his eyes set on two lads he expects to develop into crack runners.

They are John Caudle, a junior, and LeRoy Jones, a sophomore. Caudle was a star of the Akron team last spring, while Jones is a Mansfield youth.

These two lads have been setting the pace in the 100-yard dashes with Jones holding a slight edge. Saudle, however, should prove a valuable member of the squad as he is also a crack quarter-miler.

Another out-of-town boy will make his debut with the Mansfield team this year. He is Charles Grant, a senior, who was at the Lockport, N. Y., high school last season. Grant is fighting for a place on the sprint squad.

Caudle will have some stiff opposition in winning a spot with the 440-yard dash group. Others battling for a berth are Don Rose, Bob Lantz, Bob Horvath and Woodburg. Rose is the only senior.

In the 880-yard run battle will be Charles Sweet, Martin Henke, Dick Burkholder, Pat Manciani, Earl Packer, Ward Pace and Ernie Arnold.

Milers out to make the varsity are Bob Yarman, Don Sawhill, Bill Dusty, Jim Templeton, Bill Smith, Howard Ammetter, Larry Bergstrom, Charles Condon and Chuck Burton.

Tygers seeking to cop a berth on the high hurdle club are Bob Lee, Fred Atwater, James Atwater, Pace and Gene Au. Howard Hershey, Albert Young, Jack Wyatt, the Atwater brothers, and Harold Remy are concentrating on the low hurdles.

Sprinters in addition to Caudle, Jones and Grant are Arthur Zerby, Harry Phillips, Dick Burns, Doyle Overholtzer.

* * *

Dave Templeton and Russ Beer form the backbone of the shot put team. Burns, Bob Lace, Ross Laughman and Bob Bobst are the juniors who hope to do their share of tossing. Discus men are Al Hager and Bill Abele.

Mehock will not have John Linta back for the pole vault this year, but he has a couple of juniors he hopes will come through. Bob Young and Lace are the lads. Hershey is the top star in this event.

High jumpers are William Boyce, Don Sprecker, Bruce McGinty, Dick Butterfield, Dick Sickmiller. On the broad jump squad are Jones, Caudle and Burns.

The season schedule: March 30—Pittsburgh indoor meet; April 6—Newark, here. April 13—Ft. Wayne, here (tentative); April 20—open; April 27—Mansfield Relays. May 1—Sandusky, here; May 4—At Akron Garfield. May 18—District meet at Mansfield; May 25—State meet at Columbus.

WESTINGHOUSE TEAM'S CAGE TRIP POSTPONED

Announcement was made today that the Westinghouse basketball club's return game with the East Pittsburgh cagers scheduled Saturday has been postponed until March 30. Hank Richards of the Mansfield team gave no reason why the game was set back. The Pennsylvanians won over Mansfield, 37 to 36, here last week-end.

Thelma Linster Sets New Record With 236

Vern Jones, Possum Run Golfers Hold Spotlight In Commercial B League.

THELMA LINSTER established a new season single game record in the Women's City league at the Meder alleys last night when she came through with a 236 to highlight a series of 586.

Bowling with the Richland Printers, Thelma broke her own record set earlier this season by one pin. She closed with a 201 as she led her team to a clean sweep over the Shelley Chocolates.

Evelyn Jocha of the Long Bar entry was Thelma's chief rival for total honors last night when she compiled a 573 series. She finished with a 201 and paced her teammates to three wins over the All-Stars. Katherine Cheney contributed a 502 to the Long Bar total.

* * *

Margaret Baker, who opened with a 209, spilled 549 pins as the Moderne Beauty Salon took two decisions from the Brenner Jewelers, led by Mary McMullen's 503.

Rolls 2757 Total In Commercial Loop.

THE POSSUM RUN Golfers, led by Joe Harrod's 620, led the scoring parade in the Commercial B league with a 2757 total, which was good for a pair of wins over the Kochheiser Sports. They climaxed their string with a 1001.

Vern Jones of the Sports set the individual pace with a 641 series, which was divided into tilts of 227, 205 and 209.

The Ringside Cafe was next high in the team scoring with a 2711 total. The string was good for a pair of wins over the Yuncker Sports. Doolittle came through with a 602 as the Mohican Chevrolets added two wins at the expense of the Shelby Cycles, paced by Adams' 628.

In the other matches, the Satterlee Restaurant club won two tilts from Heilman's Grocers, Mansfield Printers took three decisions from the Southern hotel and the Mansfield Rugs scored a trio of wins over Ohio Public Service.

Canton Cagers Romp

Bulldogs, Quakers Loom as Teams to Beat in State Court Play.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's quartet of unbeaten high school teams are still among the 16 battling for the state basketball championships, but three of them must feel lucky to be answering today's bell.

Canton McKinley, Cincinnati Woodward and New Philadelphia in Class A, and Smithfield of Jefferson county in Class B, are the only unblemished squads among the 1,151 which started the campaign, but only the Canton club had an easy time surviving the firing yesterday when the chips went down in the championship scrap.

* * *

McKinley bowled over Martins Ferry in easy fashion, 48 to 23, but Woodward was forced to overcome a 13-8 deficit at halftime to beat Canton Lehman 21 to 19; New Philadelphia needed a last-minute splurge to come from behind to nose out Bellevue, victor of Mansfield in district finals, 34 to 31, while Smithfield had to outscore Germantown 9-3 in the fourth quarter to erase a three-point disadvantage and win by 28 to 25.

* * *

The first round games were decided strictly on form with the exception of Akron Buchtel's 26-24 win over Defiance. Buchtel had been beaten five times in 17 starts, while Defiance had bowed but once in 22 games.

While the undefeated squads had their eye on the state titles, practically all the spectators had their eye on Ken Huddleston, tall center for Dayton Fairview. Kenny splashed 22 points into the hoop yesterday in a 43-32 win over Toledo Waite, missing the all-time tourney scoring record by three points.

Huddleston gets another chance today, against unbeaten Woodward, and he hopes to do as well as he did against Waite. He also has his eye on the state title, which he thinks might be a pretty nice present on his 19th birthday, which comes around Saturday.

Tommy Carnes, Canton McKinley's great set-shot artist, celebrated his 19th birthday yesterday by scoring 12 points to lead the way to victory over Martins Ferry, but three Class B boys with the same incentive didn't fare so well. They were Howard and John Thompson, Sandusky St. Marys twins, who were in on a 23-22 setback at the hands of Amanda, and Eugene Jenkins of Kitts Hill, which lost to Holgate by 48-33. Jack Augsten, Akron South guard, observes his 18th birthday Saturday.

Huddleston, in scoring 22 points, was not the only one to come within three of a tournament record in the opening round. While he slipped up on the mark of 25 set by Akron North's Ed Sadowski in 1935, Robert Shrider of Class B Glenford came as close to the Class B record of 28, set by Ronnie Peters of Lawrenceville in 1933. Shrider pounded the loop for 25 points and the day's high mark.

* * *

New Carlisle of Clark County, in romping over Waynesburg 53 to 35, was only five points away from the all-time high of 58 set in 1935 by the famed Waterloo Wonders as they scurried to their second straight Class B crown.

* * *

Back of Huddleston in the Class A scoring sector yesterday were Warren Bell of Findlay with 20; Wyndol Gray of Akron South and Willie Garland of Columbus Central with 18; Barker of New Philadelphia with 14; and Hake of Cincinnati Woodward, McClain of Bellevue, and Hildreth of Bellefontaine with 13 each.

Shrider was far ahead in Class B, but Hood of Canfield collected 20. Kouse of New Carlisle 19. Max of Holgate and Stapleton of Kitts Hill 16 each, and Fowler of Hanover 15.

All the clubs swung over to the state fairgrounds coliseum for today's play, following the first round in which the "B" games were offered at Ohio State university's gym.

Farmers and Billiards Win to Tie Dairy Five for Second Half Title at Friendly House.

IT'S GOING to take two playoff contests to decide who'll be the champion in the Friendly House Senior Class A league.

At first it looked like one game was all that would be needed the way the Isaly Dairy quintet was sweeping aside its rivals in the second half race.

But the Isaly five, sporting a four-game winning streak, ran into the Rex Billiards in the league's final games at the settlement last night and finished on the short end of a 30 to 29 score.

* * *

Meanwhile, Raemelton Farm, first half champion, walliped the Moose Lodge club, 54 to 22, to throw the race wide open. The Farmers, Cuemen, 1939 champions, and the Dairy team share the second half title.

Augustine Canfields registered their first win of the half in whipping the Daley Cafe quint, 34 to 15, in the other setto.

The Dairymen were behind by a point with five minutes remaining and Roberts was awarded a free throw. His attempt to convert was short and the Cuemen were holding the ball in the back court as the gun sounded.

Fighting desperately to remain in the title race, the Billiards overcame a point lead in the fourth frame to triumph. It was the only time the defending champions were able to hold the advantage.

The Dairys led, 8 to 6, in the first frame, 16 to 11, at the intermission, and 23 to 22 at the three-quarter mark. Teofilio paced the winners with 11 points. France of the Dairys was high-point man with 13 tallies.

* * *

A wild scoring session in the first half gave the Farmers an overwhelming lead. With Kenny Hardin banking in 24 points, the Raemelton five built up a 39 to 8 lead at the rest period.

* * *

Raemelton was ahead, 18 to 6, in the opening stanza, and 49 to 15, at the end of the third quarter.

Augustine's hoopsters were held to two points in the first frame against the Cafe club, but couldn't be halted after that. The Canfield five held a 2 to 1 advantage in the opening quarter, was ahead, 15 to 3, at halftime, and 25 to 6, as the clubs went into the last chapter. Heiser tipped in 13 points for the winners.

Cards Ride Crest of National Wave of Inferiority Complexes

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(INS)—Although the St. Louis Cardinals need strengthening in two infield spots, most Florida observers are picking them to meet the Yankees in the 1940 worlds series.

The Cardinals seem to be riding the crest of a national league wave of inferiority complexes. To a somewhat lesser degree than the Yankees dominate the American league the Redbirds are exerting a psychological pressure on the other seven National league clubs. Several managers have proclaimed that the Cardinals have all the answers even before the season opens. The champion Cincinnati Reds, you might think, are just an ordinary team compared to the Cards, who challenged them fiercely in the stretch drive last fall but finished second.

Manager Ray Blades professes to deprecate the confidence that pervades the Cardinal camp here. The young men assembled in St. Petersburg under the St. Louis standard are a band of hustlers. Blades likes that manifestation but not the extremely high opinion the Cardinals have of themselves. He doesn't admit he has a pennant winner.

* * *

"I'm not kidding myself," he says. "A year ago our prospects were just as good. We made our bid too late. This club has punch and a fine set of outfielders. The infield can be improved. The pitching, I believe, will be satisfactory."

* * *

TWO infielders are set—Johnny Mize at first base and Jimmy Brown, who plays either short or second base. Blades seeks improvements at third base and a replacement for Brown at short if Jimmy is moved back to second base. Don Gutteridge, at third, is fast but hit only .269 last season. A good second baseman can get a job but he must be good enough to keep Brown covering the short field. Likewise a good shortstop is needed if Brown moves back to second base.

No outfield problems vex Blades. Joe Medwick will eventually adjust his contract troubles and he is the left fielder. Terry Moore will be in center and Enos Slaughter in right. All are fine hitters and Moore is exceptionally brilliant on defense.

The old "wild hoss of the Osage," Pepper Martin, has slipped back to a supporting role. He will be one of the extra outfielders. The other probably will be Harold Epps, up from Houston. Epps has been poised on the edge of a big league job for two weeks.

* * *

Infield candidates with a chance are Martin Marion, Rochester shortstop last year; Joe Orengo, another shortstop up from Sacramento for a second trial here, and Maurica Sturdy, a second baseman with Rochester last season. Marion fills the defense requirements but is a light hitter. Orengo and Marion each hit .262 in their respective leagues last season.

* * *

BILL DELANCEY'S attempt at a comeback is progressing slowly. If he can pick up where he had to quit in 1935 Delancey is a first string catcher. He has the old gas house spirit. Don Padgett, reformed outfielder, is a fine hitter but not a great catcher. The light hitting Mickey Owen caught 131 games last season.

Six new pitchers are on trial here, all of them products of Cardinal chain clubs. Left hander Max Lanier, back from Columbus, looks like the best of the lot. Elwood (preacher) Rowe, from Rochester, also may squeeze in. The eight holdovers are Morton Cooper, Bill McGee, Curt Davis, Bob Bowman, Lon Warnecke, Tom Sunkel, Clyde Shoun and Bob Weiland.

The Cardinals figure to get the pitching and they pack a punch. Maybe they are the "class" of the National league, but a canny fellow named Bill McKechnie still manages the Reds.

Breaks Marks At Dartmouth

Woodruff Leads Attack as Records Fall.

HANOVER, N. H.—(INS)—The skeptics who still sniff at claims that the Dartmouth board floor is the fastest thing in the world next to lightning could find little comfort today in eight shattered indoor marks that fell last night in a general upheaval of the record books.

Responsible for the all-around shattering of previous marks were John Woodruff, Jimmy Herbert, John Borican and two relay teams from New York university.

* * *

Woodruff broke every record for 800 meters and the half-mile, hanging up new marks of 1:47 and 1:47.7 respectively.

* * *

Herbert authored the fastest marks yet recorded under a roof for the 400 meters and 440 yards, the times being 0:47.9 and 0:48.4.

Borican ran the three-quarters of a mile in 3:01.2, bettering all marks, official and otherwise, for the distance.

The N. Y. U. team set up a new record time of 1:27.7 for the 880-yard relay and a new mark of 3:15 for the one-mile relay which also won the runners a new 1,600 meter record en route.

Yanks On Block . . . For $7,000,000

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The New York Yankees are for sale, but it will take around $7,000,000 to buy them, and nobody with that kind of cash has come along.

The greatest baseball club in history is on the market, a fact rumored ever since the death of Col. Jacob Ruppert Jan. 13 last year, but brought into the open by another of many false reports that the Yankees had been actually sold.

George Ruppert, brother of the late colonel, and Edward Barrow, president of the Yankees, were quick to deny that the club had been sold, or would be sold to a syndicate headed by Gov. Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire.

Heffner Asks For Tough Foe

Prefers 'Hun,' But Will Take Anybody Monday.

Jimmy Heffner, cyclonic Texan, who came within an eyelash of defeating "The Hun" here last Monday night, has signed a contract with the Quality Club to meet any light-heavy or junior-heavyweight in the game here Monday night.

* * *

"I'm definitely after another crack at that masked devil," Heffner told Matchmaker Nolan in his soft Texas drawl "and I won't rest until I get it."

* * *

Nolan agreed to try to make this match but "The Hun" would have none of it, claiming a previous engagement Monday.

When informed that "The Hun" would not agree to meet him again Heffner told Nolan to sign any other man under 200 pounds and Nolan is now endeavoring to secure the best available mat star to oppose Heffner here Monday night.

PEACE PUZZLE CONTINUES TO AFFECT MARKET

Stocks Hold to Within Shade of Yesterday's Finish; Offerings Light.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks shifted from one foot to the other in today's market and the majority held to within a shade of where they finished Thursday.

Lightness of offerings again was an encouraging factor for bullish thinkers. Bonds were narrowly improved and commodities irregular. Foreign securities markets were stationary. The pound sterling slipped another notch or two in terms of the dollar.

Speculative apathy in stocks still was attributed to the latest Russian-Finnish peace puzzle and its possible effects on the main European conflict. Business news generally was without particular stimulation.

Those watching retail activities for market clues noted the weekend survey of Dun & Bradstreet which found merchandising volumes topped the comparable 1939 period by 6 to 12 per. The year-to-year increase was the broadest since early January. Best regional expansion was registered in the south and southwest.

PEACH CROP IN OHIO DAMAGED

Northern Section of State Hit By Freezing Weather.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio's 1940 peach crop will be far below normal because of the severe winter weather, W. Dale Hilbish, of the bureau of markets of the state department of agriculture, predicted today.

Buds on Elberta trees in some parts of the important commercial area in Ottawa county survived the freezing temperatures, but in the rest of the northern section of the state this variety was seriously damaged.

In Ashtabula and Lake counties, it was estimated that a crop of from 5 to 10 per cent on this variety will be realized this year.

FINNISH ARMY, CIVILIANS START RETREAT MARCH

Thousands Travel by Foot and by Wagon to Clear Sections Handed to Russians.

ties said they expected this loan would materalize shortly.

But it was clear that the defensive alliance among Finland, Sweden and Norway faced serious obstacles. Opposition was believed to be rising in both Sweden and Norway on grounds the proposed pact might offend Russia.

Reds Plan Formation of New Soviet State.

MOSCOW — (AP) — Immediate organization of ceded Finnish territory into an autonomous Soviet Socialist State Republic was considered today to be the principal task of the supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R., convoked for March 29.

The summons to the parliament, coming three days after the peace treaty, led informed observers to predict that after formal ratification of the pact the supreme Soviet would act speedily to establish Communist rule in what the government newspaper Izestia termed a former "anti-Soviet war base."

This reference to the Karelian Isthmus, where Finland bore the brunt of the Russian assault, prompted one observation that war-lost Finnish land would be strategically split.

The Isthmus would be assimilated by the Leningrad military district, according to this view, and the remainder of the ceded territary, the northern shores of Lake Ladoga and eastern central Finland, would be incorporated into the existing Karelian Soviet Republic, northeast of the Isthmus itself.

In the absence of official comment, however, most observers predicted one separate Republic would be created for the occupied areas.

In demanding concessions on the Isthmus, pre-war negotiations for Moscow pointed out that Leningrad, less than 30 miles from the former Finnish frontier was within artillery range of the Mannerheim line. Leningrad, morover, was the seat of the Finnish campaign.

In keeping with the policies of Nikolai Lenin, father of the Russion revolution, and Joseph Stalin, his successor, the formation of a Soviet Republic in the ceded Finnish areas would promise local self-government and preserve the language and cultural institutions of the regions.

See Italy, Russia Resume Trade Relations.

ROME—(U.P.)—Russia and Italy may resume formal trade relations under a new agreement soon, it was believed in diplomatic quarters today, partly as the result of the recent visit to Rome of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Russian and Italian informants denied reports that an agreement was envisaged. The Russo-Italian trade treaty expired December 31, but it was understood that it was being enforced still through a verbal agreement pending the negotiation of a new one.

There seemed indications that a treaty might be negotiated soon. Virginio Gayda, newspaper commentator regarded as close to the foreign office, wrote Wednesday: "Ribbentrop discussed with Premier Benito Mussolini among other things the inexplicable hostility of Russia toward Italy which has now been partly rectified."

Storms Keep West Front Activity Quiet.

PARIS —(INS)— Stormy weather kept the western front fairly quiet today, save for the customary patrol activities, and held aviation on the ground.

While the official French war communique reiterated that there was "nothing to report," it was disclosed in advices from the front that two German patrols which approached the French lines west of the Vosges mountains were repulsed with losses.

The French ambushed a third German patrol in the central Vosges region, taking a number of German prisoners.

Military authorities in Paris denied a German communique which claimed that 15 French soldiers had been captured as the result of a German ambush, but admitted that two Frenchmen were missing as a result of this skirmish.

In addition, it was denied that any French reconnaissance planes had been shot down.

Nazis Hint 'Surprises' Due In Next 10 Days.

BERLIN —(U.P.)— Nazis reported today that Germany was rapidly consolidating its position in southeastern Europe and hinted that there would be important "surprises" for the Allies in the next 10 days.

The viewpoint emphasized in German sources was that impending developments either would prepare the way for subsequent military action—presumably in the west—or would make such action unnecessary.

Neutral sources believed that significant activity was in progress, centering chiefly around Bucharest, Rome and Moscow, but said the outcome appeared to depend on future developments in an international diplomatic poker game.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM

Edward Boyd, 87, Succumbs From Heart Attack, Coroner Says.

Edward L. Boyd, 87, was found dead in his room in the Volunteers of America building, North Main street, early today. Death was due to a heart attack, Coroner Hugh Winbigler said.

Mr. Boyd had been dead about 36 hours when found. He was last seen at dinner Wednesday evening. Friends investigated and found him dead in his bed today.

A resident of this city for several years, he was born in Delaware county, March 10, 1853. Three sons, Grover of Sunbury, Glenn of Medina and Al of Delaware, survive.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

STUDENT FOUND DEAD IN AUTO

Sandusky Youth At O. S. U. Found Near Boarding House.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The body of George C. Smoots, of Sandusky, a first year student in Ohio State university's college of engineering, was found shortly before noon today in his automobile at the rear of a boarding house.

Authorities believed that Smoots had died of natural causes. Fellow students reported that he "always was taking pills."

The body was found by Leonard F. Legg, after Smoots failed to appear this morning for a scheduled examination. He had not been seen since Thursday morning.

Arrest Indian as Assassin

Mahomed Singh Azad, 37-year-old native of India, is pictured, left, as he was being taken by a constable from Caxton hall, London, following the killing there of Sir Michael O'Dwyer, British official prominent in the government of India, and the wounding of three others, including Lord Zetland, secretary of state for India. The assassination took place during a meeting of the East India association.

PWA ASKED TO CLARIFY CHARGE

Board Wants to Be Shown How Workers on Two New Schools Were Underpaid.

ing that the board had complied with all PWA specifications set up when the building contracts were let and asking the federal office to show just how much 120 workers on the projects had been underpaid.

In letters to the board, PWA charged that 120 workers on the two buildings had received only 50 cents an hour as common laborers when they should have got 60 cents as construction laborers.

The wage figures were erroneously quoted yesterday by a board member at 40 and 50 cents per hour.

The PWA complaint was based on a recent department of labor ruling which eliminated the common labor classification on PWA jobs, federal officials said.

H. W. Arlin, president of the school board, explained last night that both the board and contractors had met all requirements for wages set up when the two new schools were started and that resident PWA engineers on the school projects had not complained of any failure to comply with the labor requirements.

The board received little satisfaction last night from Stanley Wolfe of the Steinle-Wolfe Construction company, Fremont, which built the Johnny Appleseed school.

"We made a contract with the school board and not with PWA, and this dispute should be settled between the board and PWA," Wolfe said.

Wolfe then asked the board to pay him the $29,000 still due his firm for work on the building.

Arlin told him the money couldn't be paid until the rest of the PWA money is received by the board, since the board has no authority to borrow except against anticipated property tax collections.

As a possible solution to the dispute over the wage scale, PWA officials suggested that the board conduct a hearing for the 120 workers, giving each 30 minutes to explain his case. A PWA official, and representatives of the contractors, architects and the school board would attend the hearing.

TRUCKER FACES CHARGE

A second trucker charged with operating a vehicle for hire without a Public Utilities commission permit will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court Tuesday. Frank McGinty, 298 West Sixth street, was arrested yesterday on a warrant signed by T. E. Grimm, investigator for the P. U. C. O.

CANDIDATES IN CLOSING RUSH

Petitions Must Be Filed by 6:30 Tonight; 37 Out for 10 County Offices.

Frank Dye of Columbus of the eight Democrats who announced for the nomination had not filed today.

Davey said he would file petitions bearing 35,000 signatures later in the day. He said he had been "literally swamped with letters and telegrams ringing with enthusiasm that is certain evidence of victory."

Primary opposition for Gov. John W. Bricker appeared when former Mayor Addison Q. Thacher of Toledo announced he would file on the Republican ticket. At the same time Raymond J. Jeffreys of Cleveland withdrew as a candidate and said he would support Thacher.

In the 17th district E. J. Scott of Mt. Vernon filed with the Richland county election board for Republican state central committeeman, opposing former Mayor Earl A. McFarland of Mansfield, the present committeeman from this district.

G. O. P. leaders here said Scott was backed by Col. Oliver H. Dockery of Newark who was defeated for the party nomination for congress in the special election last month.

Louise Adkins of Newark is unopposed so far for re-election as 17th district Republican state committeewoman. Also unopposed was E. B. Kallmerten, Mansfield, Democratic central committeeman.

G. A. Baer, Mansfield, and B. F. McFarland, Newark, filed their petitions for delegate to the national Democratic convention in Chicago. There are two to be elected.

On the Republican side, Charles R. Frederickson of Coshocton county and E. W. Heisey of Licking county filed for the national delegate posts.

Three candidates for sheriff, a Democrat and two Republicans, had filed today in the county. Deputy Sheriff Frank E. Robinson is seeking the Democratic nomination and Frank D. Deringer and Beryln McCready, both of Mansfield, filed for the Republican nomination.

Others who had filed include:

Kenneth Shaffer, Republican, for county engineer; L. L. Kochenderfer, Republican, for recorder; Willard N. Groff, Lester M. Daugherty, and Cyrus L. Shoup, Republicans, for county commissioner; Atty. R. J. Brown, Republican, for prosecutor, and Joseph A. Jacot, Democrat, for clerk of courts.

'Best Undressed Girl' Fetes 9 Who Brought Her Fame

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Janice Logan, the "best undressed girl of 1939," is also the most grateful of any year.

Janice, Chicago Junior leaguer, gave a dinner party last night for nine men who helped her break into motion pictures, and presented each with a gift—an engraved cigaret lighter.

The beneficiaries, touched at this unHollywood-like behavior, expressed delighted amazement. Said Cameraman Henry Hallenberger, who directed her first movie test:

"I've been at Paramount studio for 23 years, and this is the first time an actress has invited me to have my picture taken with her."

The New York Art Students league last month elected Miss Logan the nation's best undressed girl despite stiff competition from Marlene Dietrich, Dorothy Lamour and others.

Miss Logan, daughter of Stuart Logan, prominent Chicagoan, made her film debut recently in "Dr. Cyclops."

British Take Steps to Fight New Economic Threat

LAUNCH PLANS TO MAINTAIN TRADE LEVEL

Increases Foreign Exchange Reserves, Tightens Up on Foreign Securities.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Great Britain brought three new weapons into her economic front line today to meet the threat of a German-Russian-Italian bloc aimed at capturing her trade.

Her effort was intended to fortify the British position in the economic struggle by increasing her reserves of foreign exchange for purchases of war supplies, mobilizing the resources of the British and French overseas empires and driving German securities from British money markets.

These measures coincided with reports in Belgrade that Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop of Germany had suggested to Italy formation of a German - Italian - Russian economic bloc with "all small states between these powers."

As reported in Belgrade, Von Ribbentrop's proposal to the Italian government would put Europe's small Baltic, central and southeastern states in the economic orbit of the three totalitarian powers, with whom some already do most of their trading.

Yugoslav officials were skeptical, however, that Italy would consider taking Russia into partnership.

As Britain pulled in her belt another notch, the Times of London forecast the likelihood of further sacrifices, emphasizing the need of "diverting from civilian consumption something like half of the whole current production in order to devote it to winning the war."

These were the three new British measures:

1. To tighten its hold on foreign exchange, the government banned private importation of canned and bottled fruits, beginning next Tuesday.

Only the ministry of food will be permitted to buy these products abroad but the effect on British supplies is not expected to be felt immediately since large stocks have been accumulated recently. In 1938 more than $14,000,000 worth was imported from the United States.

2. To organize British-French colonial cooperation in order to utilize all of both empires' resources for the war effort, it was learned, Malcolm MacDonald, colonial secretary, will confer in Paris soon with Georges Mandel, French minister of colonies.

3. Large-scale selling in Britain of securities, chiefly negotiable bonds on behalf of German interests, was disclosed in a stock exchange warning to members to "exercise greatest caution in accepting and executing orders, the real source of which they are not able to verify beyond all reasonable doubt."

Such sales are subject both to stock exchange disciplinary action and stringent penalties under the law forbidding trading with the enemy.

ADMITS HOLD-UP

Suspect Confesses Getting $2,300 From Youngstown Restaurant.

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— Eugene Doyle, 34, of Monessen, Pa., who was arrested yesterday in Monessen, has confessed holding up Jay's Lunch, a downtown restaurant, here, and taking $2,300 last Friday night, Detective Chief William Reed said today.

Reed said Doyle admitted he fired a shot into the floor to intimidate the bartender, and then walked out. Doyle still is held in Monessen because, Reed said, he also admitted two holdups in Pennsylvania.

STRICKEN AT 35

Percy James Minard Had Lived In Mansfield 20 Years.

Percy James Minard, 35, a resident of this city 20 years, died at his home, 255 East Second street, last evening after a lingering illness. He was born in Ironton, May 30, 1904. His wife preceded him in death five years ago.

A son, Robert Eugene, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Minard of Mansfield, and two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Hayes of Columbus and Mrs. Wilma Harding of Mansfield, survive.

The body was removed to the Geiger funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. M. L. Gordon. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

ASKS REHEARING

Counsel for Woman Liquor Violator Seeks Writ Again.

In another move to free Mary Kathleen Kirkendall, convicted liquor law violator, from the Richland county jail, Atty. Jacob Wagenhals, her counsel, had filed a motion today for a new hearing of her petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston refused the writ 10 days ago and a criticized a probate court decision which had freed Mrs. Kirkendall under the Ohio insolvency law.

Mrs. Kinkendall, who is serving out a $500 fine imposed in municipal court for the illegal possession and sale of liquor, was returned to jail two weeks ago to complete her term. Unless she gains her freedom through court action, she must serve a total of 344 days.

Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mansfield, convicted with Mrs. Kirkendall for the same offense, also is serving out a fine in the county jail.

LAST CHANCE

You've Got Until Midnight to File Income Tax Returns.

With the stroke of midnight tonight marking the deadline for the filing of 1939 income tax returns, belated Mansfielders besieged the office of the deputy revenue collectors in the Postoffice building. Individuals must either submit their income tax declaration in person or mail them to the nearest district office before midnight.

The office in the postoffice will be open until 9 p. m. today.

Despite the fact that thousands of public employes were brought into the income tax brackets for the first time this year, officials in Washington were convinced today that the total revenue for the year would be considerably lower than for 1938.

The two major factor responsible for the decrease were given as a lower national income during the past year and emasculation of the undistributed profits tax on corporation earnings.

COLORED DEMS RENAME LAWTON

County Club Picks Officers and Executive Board Members.

The Richland County Colored Democratic club last night re-elected William Lawton, president, and chose other officers and executive board members at a meeting at 246 North Diamond street.

Mrs. Alice Frost was elected vice-president; Charles Jarrett, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Williams, secretary; Mose Haynes, executive committee chairman; William Kilgore, William DeHoney, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitley, Huston Martin, James Andrew, and Marvin Stevenson, executive committee; Mrs. W. J. Rogers, chaplain; Sylvester Jacobs, chairman of the entertainment committee; and Mrs. Lulu Childs, membership committee. Harvey Wilson was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

INVENTOR'S PLAN TO TEST NEW BOMB ON GOATS ANGERS S.P.C.A.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals today sounded a battle cry of "use ships not goats" on an inventor's proposal to test his new liquid oxygen bomb by blowing up goats on a lonely Texas prairie.

Mrs. Herbert W. Elmore, president of the Washington branch of the animal society, urged a nationwide campaign of protests against the use of goats, or any other animal, to test the new explosive and suggested that it be tried on the government's "ghost fleet" of retired world war vessels, now tied up at Solomon's island in Chesapeake bay.

Inventor Lester P. Barlow, of Stamford, Conn., who claims that his new explosive is "the most deadly," indignantly denied that he intended any cruelty to animals. He insisted that the goats would be killed so quickly that there would be no pain.

Mrs. Elmore, however, said that her society would do "everything in our power" to prevent such an experiment, but admitted that "it is a hard proposition in view of the fact that it is a congressional matter."

"We believe in preparedness," she said, "but it seems horrible that such a test with animals should be necessary. It would be far better to test the bomb on some of the government's old ships tied up from the world war. Certainly a ship is as fair a test of the bomb's destructive capacity as a live animal."

Barlow, a Stamford, Conn., inventor, now employed by the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft company, looked forward eagerly to Monday's show down with his old foes—the army and navy ordance departments, whom he beat in a $700,000 court of claims case for world war inventions. He hasn't been able to collect the money yet, but he thinks congress will get around to voting it one of these days.

CITY SHIVERS

Mercury Far Below Normal as Winter Makes Last Stand.

While temperatures ranged from 10 to 20 degrees below normal in Ohio, much of the eastern half of the nation was hit today by one of the worst storms of the winter.

Mansfielders, who shivered in 18-degree weather, looked hopefully to spring which is just a week away. The city's average reading for the past 24 hours was 23.5 degrees, nearly 11 degrees below normal. Fair and warmer weather is forecast for Saturday and Sunday.

Central and northern New York state had the worst storm of the season. Heavy winds blew down power lines and trees and whipped eight inches of snow into huge drifts at Rome and Syracuse, N. Y.

An ice storm halted traffic at Buffalo, while eastern Canada had the heaviest snowfall of the winter, isolating many rural sections.

FINISHES WAR RELIEF QUOTA

Red Cross Report Shows 320 Garments Sent Abroad, Gets Yarn for New Project.

The Richland County Chapter of Red Cross has completed its first quota of war relief supplies with the exception of a few items and has received the yarn for a new project of knitting and garment making, according to Mrs. Leopold Adams.

In her monthly report to the executive board of the chapter, Mrs. Adams said that 120 women's and girls' heavy dresses and 200 hand knit sweaters for men, women and children, have been complete and shipped. Most of them are already in Europe being distributed to war victims.

She said she had received 115 pounds of yarn which is ready for distribution to volunteer knitters and that there was enough material to make another 120 women's dresses.

During February 86 workers gave 1,151 hours of volunteer service to war production work.

In the second quota Mrs. Adams had included the making of mufflers, sweaters, sleevless sweaters and aphgans, the latter to be knit by members of Junior Red Cross out of odd bits of yarn.

A new type of service will be inaugurated for women who cannot knit but are willing to crochet. She said there was a need for thousands of small peasant shawls for the women of central Europe who have been made homeless by the war. The Red Cross will furnish the yarn for this work.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1940.

This is the winter that you'll want to keep in mind to tell your grandchildren about.

Hitler's personality is said to be changing—but evolution can't be expected to accomplish much in a year or two.

"You can't fool all of the people all of the time"—but that isn't necessary. Fooling a majority every four years answers the purpose nicely.

Disclosures of Realty Survey

THOSE who are taking the time to read the series of articles on housing in this city, written by Harold K. Mansfield, who was director of the property inventory recently completed as a WPA project, will find considerable interesting information therein.

The large percentage of smaller houses, as revealed in yesterday's article, not only reflects the present-day higher costs of building but also indicates the trend toward smaller families and the less-serious regard for "extra" rooms to accommodate visitors.

It is not surprising that the 6-room home is found to outnumber those in any other classification, as this probably comes nearest meeting average family needs in the customary arrangement of living room, dining room and kitchen on the first floor and three sleeping rooms upstairs—although modern planning sometimes eliminates the dining room in favor of a library or "den."

The once common eight, ten and twelve-room homes, still found in older residential sections of the city, seldom enter into modern construction requirements for one-family use, and a number of these old homes have been remodeled into apartments for two or more families.

The four and five-room homes, usually in bungalow design, meet the needs of young, or elderly couples quite nicely, but are not ordinarily regarded as providing adequately for a family in which there are several children—although, unfortunately, some of the even smaller units are being used to accommodate quite large families in some parts of the city.

Another point of interest in this survey, evidencing present-day requirements, is that 6,949 of the approximate 10,000 total dwellings in Mansfield and vicinity, have garages.

Century of Dental Progress

THIS WEEK is being observed nationally as the centenary of modern dentistry—the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of a college of dental surgery in Baltimore, Md., first of its kind in the world.

For the centuries before that time, during which some sort of dental work had been done, those who did it were regarded as skilled mechanics, rather than being engaged in a profession, and their compensation was on that basis. Even yet, in a number of countries, the dentist is addressed as "Mister" and not dignified by the title of "Doctor," as has long been common in the United States.

Among the other unpleasant experiences of his troublous times, George Washington, first president, had lost all of his teeth by 1789 and history recounts the many difficulties he had with his false teeth, now more euphoniously designated as artificial dentures.

Discovery of anesthetics, development of rubber vulcanite, and improved methods of filling tooth cavities have all entered into the progress of dentistry during the past century, coupled with growing public appreciation of the importance of care of the teeth from infancy through adult life.

From the early beginning of five young men who started their studies when the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery was opened in 1840, dental training has steadily become more exacting in its requirements of preparatory education and in the number of years necessary to complete the course of study and clinical work.

Recognition that the health of the mouth is important to general health has resulted in the professions of medicine and dentistry assuming practically equal importance in present-day consideration of physical well-being, and the example in competence provided by American dentists is gradually extending beneficially into other parts of the world.

While Winter Lingers

THIS is the time of year when Nature can't seem to make up her mind about the weather. The results are hard for winter-weary humans to bear, partly because they have already had enough, but chiefly because the last outbreaks of the departing season are often violent and of serious consequences. Floods and ice storms do much damage and are harder to combat than the heavy snows and steady cold of deep winter. This year is having its full quota of weather troubles, but the worst will soon be over—until another March.

It is azalea time in the South. It will soon be daffodil time in the Northwest. The tulips and blooming cherry orchards in Michigan, apple blossoms through the Shenandoah Valley, and so through every section and every state, are now announced as next on the year's program. Not only will spring return, but there will be the customary festivals in its honor and pilgrimages of beauty-lovers to the regions where it is most accessible and showy.

Opportunity Promotes Progress

THOMAS JEFFERSON, who is referred to by some historians as "the father of the patent system," was in reality the first patent examiner. When the question of protection by patent was first considered Jefferson opposed it on the ground that it hinted at monopoly. When he realized, however, that the government, by granting "patent rights" stimulated invention, he became an ardent advocate of the system. It has been estimated that since 1900, 100,000 new products have been placed on the market as a result of American ingenuity inspired by the patent system.

Let's not forget this today when government attempts to curb the profit opportunity to the vanishing points, or abuse government privileges and power by competing with private enterprise. Whether you are an inventor who thinks he is deserving of reward for his accomplishments, or are on a job earning a salary, you like to feel that opportunity and the possibility of personal reward are always ahead of you.

You grow with the times. Your community is constantly progressing. The reason is that Americans are an enterprising people and want to go ahead; not because they are selfish, but because they are proud of their freedom and the right to receive rewards for their own endeavors as individuals living in a free country. This was reasoned out in the days of molding the United States, by great men who were responsible for the evolution of this country from a wilderness to the world's leading industrial and scientific nation.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The Smith-of-Virginia committee investigating fumblings of the National Labor Relations Board is hot on the trail of so-called "blackjacking" by the government.

The "blackjacking" is supposed to have been directed at business organizations to compel them to abide by the labor bargaining law.

But if the committee would cast a roving eye about, it would find that congress itself has been employing the same squeeze-plays for several years with the general aim of boosting wages and reducing working hours.

* * *

Congress' Wish.

THE major discovery of the committee was that the RFC had agreed to hold up loans to employers whose labor relations were under examination by the labor board.

Yet, by specific action, congress at various times has ruled that no business house or contractor can get government business unless he agrees in advance to guarantee "prevailing wages and hours."

The Bacon-Davis Act requires "prevailing wages and hours" in all government building contracts above $2,000, while the Walsh-Healy Act does the same for government supply contracts valued above $10,000.

* * *

Source of Opposition.

WHETHER or not it is a good idea for the government to go into these things is another question. There have been mutterings in congress that the thing has gone too far. One of the arguments against the long pending bill to grant extensive federal aid to schools was that it would permit the government to "blackjack" the states into adopting whatever trend in education the federal government happened to favor at the time. Good old state's righters looked upon it as almost the ultimate in breaking down state independence.

* * *

Hope to Raise Wages.

"BLACKJACKING" is probably a strong word to use in such business, but the idea is the same in all instances. The government may have an idea that a certain glove-maker is paying too low wages, so when a contract for gloves is to be let, the low-wage glove-maker is automatically out of the bidding unless he agrees to pay prevailing wages in the making of the government gloves.

The result in some instances has been that workmen standing side by side draw two different scales of pay. The administrators of the law do not attempt to hide their hope that the result will be to force general adoption of the "prevailing wages" by all industries.

* * *

An Old Idea.

AS A matter of fact a somewhat modified system of governmental "blackjacking" of the states has been going on for a half century, all in the cause of better education. And the states love it.

The system has to do with the various "grants in aid" to the states for doing this and that. Annually the government puts up in excess of $30,000,000 for distribution among the states for education in home economics, vocational training and rehabilitation, for farm experimentation.

Most of the money must be matched dollar-for dollar by the states. While the government claims not to hold too close a rein on how the states will spend the money, it exercises a veto power which is backed up by the prospect that the money may be withdrawn if the states don't follow directions.

That system dates clear back to 1887, when the Hatch Act authorized research in rural home economics and sociology with a flavoring of agricultural experimenting. The states had to match the money if they got it.

And it was only lately that congress eased up on the most controversial squeeze of all—the ruling that land-grant colleges must require all male students of suitable physique to take up military training.

Timely Editorial

Triumph For Newspapers.

Credit for overthrow of the Long political machine in Louisiana properly belongs to the newspapers of that state. They waged a hard and bitter fight before putting the unscrupulous politicians to rout, but victory is undeniably theirs.

Huey Long did everything in his power to embarrass and handicap the newspapers in the days when he was kingfish. Like all dictators, he saw that the threat to his power ambitions lay in the newspapers. Heavy taxes were imposed which would have put the newspapers out of business had not the federal courts nullified them.

Huey Long did everything in his power to discredit the newspapers, and with his peculiarly glibness, he succeeded. The politician who seeks to belittle the press of the nation, or hinder it in its disclosure of the facts must be watched closely. His motives are selfish and bode no good for the people. The taxpayers of Louisiana lost millions including their liberty because they believed a little tyrant instead of listening to the advice of their newspapers.

BETTER TRY 'ANOTHER "REMEDY"

Listen, World!

I Don't Know What I Want.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT do I want? I don't know. I've never known. But I used to think I would.

How plainly it all comes back—the wonder and worry of beginning life. Confusion everywhere. People doing foolish incomprehensible things. Getting into messes. Suffering from tragedies which seemed so unnecessary to my young ignorance.

Yet, surely, this lovely world was made for happiness! Then why didn't people make up their minds what the want to do, and go after that happiness?

But they didn't. Instead, they deliberately muddled everything, or so it seemed to me. Why? What was it all about? How did they get that way?

Of one thing only I was sure—I wasn't going to spoil my life that way. No muddling along for me! Presently, when I was a little older, and the dizziness had quieted, I was going to sit down and plan everything out. I would decide exactly what I wanted to be, and then I'd go right ahead and be it.

Yes, in a year or two I'd know my own mind perfectly. And after that, everything would be easy.

So I planned, at fifteen, at twenty, at twenty-five.

Instead of making a simple choice of between doing This or doing That, I had to choose between thousands of likely projects, each one of which appealed to me tremendously. For I, myself, was as varied as the complicated world in which I lived.

I wasn't just one person, Elsie Robinson, who liked to draw and write, adored babies and was crazy to have a little house with ruffled curtains, and be a good wife and mother some day.

I was scores of persons, all tied together in one lanky, blonde bundle. And each one of those persons wanted to do or be something different from all the others! And how could I possibly decide which person I would be?

Faintly I began to perceive this problem at twenty—and I've been perceiving it, with increasing misery ever since. For I have never yet been able to decide what I wanted to do or be.

I've wanted to be a Good Woman, living a quiet, protected life, beloved by my family and neighbors, sinking my roots deeper and deeper into the gentle soil of my home.

But I've also wanted to be a gypsy, without home or family ties, wandering recklessly, joyously, in the far corners of the earth, seeing everything there was to be seen.

And then again I've wanted to be simply a good worker, doing my bit to boost the scheme of things.

Yes, even while these conflicting desires tore at my heart, I've wanted to be a Brilliant, Beautiful Bad Woman, eating forbidden apples from every tabooed tree!

So the years have gone—happy in spots, for a very little while; harassed by confusion and curiosity, restlessness and remorse, most of the time.

AND, IN SPITE OF ALL THE EXPERIMENTS I'VE MADE AND THE TEARS I'VE SHED, I STILL DON'T KNOW WHAT I WANT!

But I've made one helpful discovery.

IF I DON'T KNOW WHAT I WANT, NEITHER DOES ANYONE ELSE!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—New Yorkers never really became acquainted with Everett Hoagland until this winter, principally because Mr. Hoagland is a stubborn sort of bloke with a band, and when swing hit the saddle a few years ago he said to hell with it and kept on playing music the way he likes it and the way he thinks it ought to be played. This means in a danceable manner and keeping in mind that if composers take the trouble to write pretty melodies, the very least a dance band can do is keep the melodies recognizable.

So, while the east has been under a sort of swing blackout, Hoagland & Co. has cruised about the country, making a few friends here, a few there, playing on the coast, playing on the gulf, just kicking around, and in general doing all right.

You may have noticed that in recent months most of the sponsored programs have staged a return to sweet. You may also have noticed that in the metropolitan area the tendency has all been away from slam-wham.

* * *

IT WAS upon this changing scene that Hoagland arrived a couple of months ago, and since that time he has been a busy young man. His name began popping up in the columns. The people began tuning in on him, or calling around the Empire Room at a Park Avenue hotel to get a load of him in person. All this attention has been very pleasant. They like his personality, and his grin. Hoagland has a way of directing with both hands, and of seeming alive. I can name you a dozen orchestra leaders who approximate inanimate objects on the stand. Hoagland doesn't gaze over the heads of his audience when he plays; he likes to look you in the eye.

What is the chief characteristic of his music? Something akin to organ effects, I suppose—based on a soft recording bass with saxes in the deeper tones. Don Burke is his vocalist, and Don is a whole story in himself.

* * *

LESS than a year ago he was just a lonely gob in the navy. When his enlistment ended he wandered around in his seaman's garb, wondering what would happen next. He didn't even have street clothes to wear for an audition with Hoagland.

But clothes have never yet made a vocalist, and Hoagland hired him. The funny thing about it is that Burke isn't his name. His real name is Roy Burkshire, but Burke, being short, is easier to remember.

The next step was to send him over to Hoagland's tailor for a complete outfit, and while measurements were being taken the tailor suddenly inquired: "What is your name?"

"Burkshire," said Roy. . . . "I mean Burke . . . No, it's Burkshire . . . Say," he cried to Jim Kinnedy, the band's road manager, who was standing nearby, "what IS my name?"

But Kinnedy couldn't answer. He was leaning against a pile of soft gaberdines, holding his sides.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Apropos of Senator Alben Barkley's offer to resign as Democratic floor leader, made in the heat of the Hatch bill fight, it has never leaked out that some time ago a plan to "boost" Barkley out of the leadership was secretly discussed at the White House.

Initiator of the plan was Democratic Elder Statesman Charley Michelson, who called on the president shortly after the death of Justice Butler, while Roosevelt was pondering the appointment of Frank Murphy to take his place on the Supreme Court.

Michelson suggested that in solving his Supreme Court problem the President might at the same time find a solution for the muddled senate leadership. He pointed out that Barkley had not been very good as senate leader, while Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina would be excellent.

But, Barkley had been a loyal friend of the president's, so Michelson proposed that he be put on the Supreme Court to fill the Butler vacancy. Then Byrnes could be the senate leader.

The president, however, pointed out that a considerable kick-back from Catholics could be expected if they saw Butler's place go to a non-Catholic. This was especially true in view of the fact that he had appointed Felix Frankfurter, a Jew, to replace Brandeis, also a Jew.

Michelson said he thought the appointment of a Catholic to the Supreme Court could wait until the next vacancy. He thought there was sure to be another vacancy.

But Roosevelt still felt the new Supreme Court justice would have to be a Catholic. And that meant Frank Murphy. The only other Catholic candidates were John P. Davency, former chief justice of the Minnesota supreme court, and Justice Harold Stephens of the District of Columbia court of appeals. The former didn't want the appointment, and the president thought the latter didn't quite measure up to it.

So Frank Murphy went to the Supreme Court and Alben Barkley remained in the senate.

Emperor Jones.

FINNISH Minister Procope gave a luncheon the other day. A number of distinguished guests were present, all of them arriving promptly at the appointed hour of 1:15.

The lunch, however, was a little late in being served. The guests all appeared to be there, but nothing happened. Finally cocktails were passed, pink and insipid in appearance but carrying a powerful wallop.

Minister Procope and his aides "skoaled and "skoaled" and "skoaled," until some of the guests began to be a bit dizzy.

One forty-five rolled around, and still no lunch. Finally at 2 o'clock, the minister made a little announcement.

"You see," he said, half apologizing, half smiling, "I am a very poor man, and I cannot have lunch without my banker."

At this point, in stepped Export-Import bank czar Jesse Jones.

* * *

All or Nothing.

ALL hands may deny it, but it is a fact that both Taft and Vandenberg emissaries recently sounded out Dewey lieutenants on the proposition that he take second place on their tickets.

The answer that came back was short and emphatic—"No!"

Dewey was represented as feeling that if he doesn't make the grade this year he is young enough to wait for another try, meanwhile building himself up by again running for governor of New York. Therefore in the current race he has no intention of playing second fiddle to anyone. It's all or nothing with him.

Both the Taft and Vandenberg camps believe that, despite the New Yorker's lead in popular polls, he is steadily losing ground with the Republican leaders who will control the votes at the Philadelphia convention.

The Taft-Vandenberg strategy is to avoid any head-on collision with Dewey in states where his public popularity ensues his winning primaries. Instead they will urge uninstructed delegations and secretly line up the local GOP chiefs, who privately are cold to Dewey and will go against him at the convention if they aren't tied up by a primary vote. Thus Taft and Vandenberg managers figure they can outmaneuver Dewey despite his greater popular strength.

* * *

Taft In the Midwest.

AN ILLUSTRATION is Iowa, where Dewey has consistently topped polls, while Taft and Vandenberg have carefully sidestepped a showdown. Under cover they are busy wooing the Republican leaders who will have a big say in the state's delegation.

Taft lieutenants are particularly playing up to Hanford MacNair, Hoover minister to Canada, who would like the lightning to strike him as the Iowa "favorite son" candidate. Though this is unlikely, MacNider has many friends, especially in the American Legion, and every little bit helps in a close fight.

Honeying up MacNider was one of the motives for Taft's second—and happier—try at the farm issue in Springfield, Ill. Springfield is only 80 miles from the Iowa line, within easy reach for the many Iowa party leaders invited to lunch with Taft. The speech was easily broadcast throughout Iowa, but technically, Taft was not barging into MacNider's home grounds.

If these seem to be fine points, they nevertheless count up in politics. More than one campaign has been lost because they were overlooked.

Note—Taft's speeches are a constant worry to his able press director, Forrest Davis. Taft writes them himself, is rarely finished until just before delivery, with the result that Davis is unable to get them to the press in advance.

Merry-Go-Round.

GOP strategy during the Hatch bill battle was matchless. Led by brainy Senator Charles McNary, the Republicans said nothing, let the Democrats do all the arguing, and voted for the measure as a bloc. When GOP Senator John Danaher of Connecticut started sounding off and offering amendments, he was quickly and forcefully silenced. . . . Theodore Metcalf, who as lieutenant governor of Nebraska started dishing out honorary titles of "Admiral of the Nebraska Navy," has tossed his hat into the ring for a seat in congress. Metcalf wanted to try for the senate, but when serious competition developed switched to running for the house. . . . Politicos have long been impressed by the way South Dakota State GOP Chairman J. D. Coon gets around to so many meetings. Now they are wondering if the fact that he has an identical twin brother doesn't explain the mystery. The two brothers live in duplex houses, are law partners and when at college kept each others' dates with girls.

Wild Geese Return

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AT DUSK from the highest point of our wooded hill I heard a faint peculiar sound, off to the south. I thought it might be the distant drone of a plane. The sky was murky and the roof was low. I hoped to see it fly below the clouds, but as it approached I seemed to hear a multitude of haunting sounds, and then I saw a dark V-shaped formation and the faint, peculiar motion of individual wings.

Louder and louder the medley of voices grew and larger grew the dark wedge-shaped line until it covered a goodly portion of the sky. Upward moving skeins of mist obscured the vanguard of the flock and then the flanks, but the birds rode through it as the moon rides through a bank of clouds, and I heard the echo of their passing move through the quiet valley—like a message of spring.

I thought they might see the silver thread of the Clearfork far below and stop for the night, but they did not. Instead I saw the last moving figure fade into the northern sky and stood listening for their muffled honking after they had disappeared.

March—and wild geese flying north! Strange, mysterious romance flourishes among the reeds and tangled grasses of open lakes and inland rivers. Screams of wild voices haunt the protected marshes that have long been silent. Last fall I saw great dark waves follow south and felt cold winter closing in about us. Now that wild wandering instinct stirs again and echoes in inaudible murmurings through my own restless nature.

Cold March winds, keen frosty nights, fickle squalls of snow, or dense dark fogs seldom drive these wanderers from their predestined course. Spring is moving northward on swift wings.

The night clouds seemed to settle about me after they had passed and I felt more deeply the strange quiet of the woods. I marveled humbly at the instinct of the wild fowls that led them over thousands of miles of land to the very place where they made their home a year ago. What power of endurance they must possess to wing such great distances without rest or food.

"There is a Power whose care
Teaches the way along that pathless coast.
The desert and illimitable air.
Lone wandering—but not lost."

OWNERS OCCUPY TWO-THIRDS OF CITY'S HOMES

Enumerators Find Majority Valued Between $3,000 and $3,999.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fifth of a series of articles on the work and findings of the Real Property Inventory, better known as the RPI, conducted by the WPA in Mansfield.

* * *

By HAROLD K. MANSFIELD
Director, Real Property Inventory

What are our homes worth?

The present article will deal exclusively with owner occupied structures. It will deal with valuation of these homes and will show how many of them are owned outright.

Out of a total of 9970 dwelling structures in Mansfield and its immediate vicinity, 62.5 per cent or 6241 are owner-occupied. The single family home is the choice of 5485 owners which is 87.9 per cent of the owner-occupied structures.

The enumerators were instructed to ask for valuation only at the single family owner-occupied homes and to ask the question—"What do you think you could get for this property if you wanted to sell it now?" The owners usually based this figure on what other properties of like type and condition in the neighborhood had been sold for, recently.

The valuations collected were given us by the owners, themselves. No appraising for valuation was attempted. Some of the owners did not fully understand the purpose of this survey so we naturally had some refusals when the valuation was asked for. However, better than 75 per cent or 4132 owner occupants of single family homes readily gave us the information and the following percentages are based on that figure:

Eight hundred and forty-eight, or 20.5 per cent of the total reported are valued from $3,000 to $3,999. This was the largest number in any one classification. Only 31 homes or two-fifths of one per cent are valued at less than $500. These 31 homes and the 101 homes valued between $500 and 1,000 constitute but 3.2 per cent of the total.

Tenth Under $2,000.

There are 392 or 9.5 per cent reported as having a value from $1,000 to $1,999. In the $2,000 to $2,999 class we have 627 or 15.2 per cent single family owner-occupied homes. Six hundred and eighty homes or 16.5 per cent fall into the $4,000 to $4,999 rating. An even 500 homes or 12.1 per cent are valued at $5,000 to $5,999.

The next classification is from $6,000 to $7,999, which includes 600 homes or 14.5 per cent.

There are 173 homes or 4.2 per cent in the $8,000 to $9,999 class. Four and three-tenths per cent or 180 single family structures are reported as having a value of $10,000 or more.

Now to make a comparison with the country as a whole and with the northeast section by itself of which Ohio is a part. First will be the average percentage figures for valuations in the 203 city areas from coast to coast: $1,999 or less, 18 per cent; $2,000 to $4,999, 46.5 per cent; $5,000 to $9,999, 27.2 per cent; $10,000 to $19,999, 6.5 per cent; $20,000 or more, 1.8 per cent.

Next is the northeast section which includes Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and all the states north and east of those mentioned. Following are the percentages: $1,999 or less, 10.8 per cent; $2,000 to $4,999, 45.3 per cent; $5,000 to $9,999, 33.3 per cent; $10,000 to $19,900, 8.3 per cent; $20,000 or more, 2.3 per cent.

Last are the percentages for Mansfield in the above categories; $1,999 or less, 12.7 per cent; $2,000 to $4,999, 52.2 per cent; $5,999 to $9,999, 30.8 per cent; $10,000 to $19,999, 3.7 per cent; $20,000 or more, .6 per cent.

These percentages compare very favorably with the figures compiled for the 203 cities in all sections of our United States. Their average percentage for owner occupied mortgaged homes is 56.3 per cent. Taking the northeast section of the United States by itself we find the figure even higher on mortgaged homes with 60.4 per cent. Here the southeast and the northwest sections of our country surpass our section with 48.6 per cent and a 48.3 per cent, respectively.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

MUCH of the news today seems to be about college students from our town who are doing well by themselves at their respective schools, with sorority and fraternity initiations taking over much of their time. . . . Marjorie Mahon recently was initiated into Pi Beta Phi sorority at the University of Michigan—Marge, who's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mahon, is a freshman at Ann Arbor this year, you know. . . . Down Delaware way, Howard Marriott has been initiated into Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity at Ohio Wesleyan university—the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Marriott, Howard is a sophomore there now.

Marianne

* * *

And speaking of Ohio Wesleyan university, a Butler girl who is well known to many Mansfielders, is a full fledged member of Kappa Delta sorority. . . . Jeanne C. Reed, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. John A. Reed, is a new initiate of that social sorority—she's a junior class member.

* * *

Following the custom of the freshman plays at Kenyon college in Gambier, the class of '43 will present a drama of the 19th century tonight, with a young Mansfield man as a member of the cast. . . . Robert Kohnstamm will portray the part of the banker in "The Ticket-of-Leave Man," a play written by a well known English melodramatist, Tom Taylor. . . . Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Kohnstamm.

* * *

HAVE you seen Mrs. Jack Topping since she's been in town this week? Or do you remember her better as Dorothy Isaly? She's here from her home in Memphis, Tenn., visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Isaly—and one of the high spots in her stay was seeing her brother, Ruhland, portray the part of Duke Mantee in the Community Players' "Petrified Forest" the other evening. . . . Incidentally, Dot says she likes the south very much, and although she hasn't a southern drawl yet, she's looking so well that it's quite evident the climate down there agrees with her.

* * *

Her Mansfield friends will be pleased to hear some news of a former resident, Elise Schou, who's now Mrs. Austin Kaecher.... She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schou, moved from here to Beloit, Wis., quite a number of years ago, but Mrs. Schou is stopping at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for a visit now and from her comes the news of Elise. . . . Perhaps you recall that after their graduation from Mansfield Senior high, Elise and Mildred Voegele (who's now Mrs. Norman Larsen, residing in Ada, Minn.) spent two years abroad—studying at the Chateau de Groley in Paris and summering at the Schou's lodge in Norway. (By the way, they still have this lodge although they haven't visited there recently because of the chaotic times in Europe.) . . . Well, Elise and her husband live in Tucson, Ariz., and are the proud parents of a young son, two-and-one-half years old. . . . Elise has taken up the study of journalism, with the aim of writing fiction.

* * *

FLORIDA certainly did appeal to Mr. and Mrs. George Rowntree during their winter stay there. . . . They returned just last week from a vacation of several weeks there, and are leaving again tomorrow to drive down to Miami to establish a permanent residence—Mr. Rowntree plans to go into business in that city upon his arrival next week.

* * *

BILL OSBORN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Osborn, left this week for Newport, R. I., where he will be stationed for three months at the U. S. Naval station. . . . He was graduated from Mansfield Senior high in the January class and didn't lose much time embarking on a new career.

St. Patrick's appointments decorated the table. The next meeting will be held on April 10 at the home of Mrs. Joseph Rairigh, 533 Bowman street, with Mrs. Dawson Maxwell as the leader.

Harold Dysart presided during the business meeting, and it was agreed at this time that members would assist the boys of the school in raising a fund for the purchase of athletic equipment by giving $1 for each $1 raised by the boys.

The hospitality committee included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Troll, Mr. and Mrs. James Gaff, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Poffenbaugh, Dr. and Mrs. Butterfield and Dr. and Mrs. Burr Hathaway. The next meeting will be held April 11 with the men in charge. W. N. Fenn is chairman.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Lillian waved me an airy goodbye and left me virtually helpless with laughter. But the fillip the mirth gave my nerves was invaluable to me, and with a squaring of my shoulders I went up to Mary's room and knocked softly.

Noel opened the door with his finger against his lips, but when he saw me he knew my errand and stepped aside for me to enter.

"She's had a wonderful nap," he whispered, his eyes fixed affectionately on his beautiful young wife, curled up like a child on the bed, with one shapely arm thrown up over her head.

"It's a shame to waken her," I whispered back, "but it simply has to be done. Will you, or shall I?"

"I told her I'd waken her when you wanted her," he said, "so if you don't mind—"

"Of course not," I assured him hastily, and he crossed to the bedside, and with infinite care bent over to the arm flung above her head, took the hand in his, and presed his lips against the palm.

Her eyes opened, not abruptly, but as if the kiss were pulling her gently back to wakefulness, and her voice was so soft and gentle that I wondered if it could belong to our imperious Mary, whose voice is more of a carol than a coo.

"Ah! Noel darling," she murmured. 'I was dreaming about you, something nice like this. I supose it's time for me to get up. Oh!" She moved slightly as she saw me behind him. "Auntie Madgie! You've come for me! I suppose it's—time for our rehearsal."

"Right you are, Mary," I told her smiling. "Will it take you long to get ready? My father wishes to see me later in the afternoon, and I want to get that rehearsal out of the way before something else happens to delay it."

"I'm virtually ready now," Mary said, sitting up and swinging her feet to the side of the bed. "I just have to put on my shoes, change this negligee for a gown, and smooth my hair. I'll forego the rest of the primping."

"I'll just run along," Noel said with his hand on the door-knob. "But, Aunt Madge, oughtn't she to have something to eat before she rehearses?"

"That's already arranged, dear boy," I said, and told him of Lillian's plan to send luncheon trays to Katie's rooms in the kitchen wing where I had planned to stage the rehearsal.

"That's all right, then," he said, and departed on the word, leaving Mary staring at me with approval.

"Aren't you the fixinest lass, though?" she apostrophized me. "That's the one place in the house which the regal princess Olina won't think of, if she or my darling pap-in-law have any inkling of what's doing."

"That's why I chose it," I told her, "but I'm suffering from an attack of conscience. Ever since Olina last spoke to me, I've been doubting more and more that she suspects anything about the rehearsal, or that she would tell Philip Veritzen anything about it if she did suspect us."

"Mebbe so, mebbe so," Mary said skeptically, 'but I hope your conscience doesn't prompt you to change your present choice for this last rehearsal."

"No, it doesn't prod me that far," I told her laughing, then as I saw that she was ready—she had made the necessary changes while she was talking—I slipped my hand beneath her arm and impelled her toward the door.

"Here's hoping Katie has something especially good in store for us!" I said as we went through the door into the hall.

Kisses Mean Nothing To Her

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

If you're one of those girls who thinks standards are old-fashioned and everything goes, you had better skip this little homily, for you may detect in its common sense a whiff of a sermon. And as a layman, I'm opposed to preaching, though I'm not above pointing out cause and effect at times.

A girl who, like one of my correspondents, says she just kisses men to humor them and doesn't care one way or the other, is apt to take on the dog-eared, thumb-marked appearance of a book on the ten-cent counter outside the second-hand bookstore.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I'm 21 and have dated many boys since I was 16, but haven't gone 'steady' with any of them. All boys like to pet. As for me, it doesn't matter either way, and if I do let them kiss, it's just to humor them, as it doesn't seem important enough to me to refuse.

"When I was younger I thought a kiss was important, and if a girl let a boy kiss her, I thought they loved each other.

"But now everyone kisses everyone else, and it doesn't seem to matter. Monday I kiss John, Tuesday I kiss Henry, and so on.

"Do you think I'm right to feel as I do; that a kiss is just a kiss and never should be taken seriously or objected to? Sometimes it's upsetting to see how flippant have become, but now I'm flippant myself. What is your opinion of the reverence one should hold toward kissing in this modern generation?

"CHRISTINE."

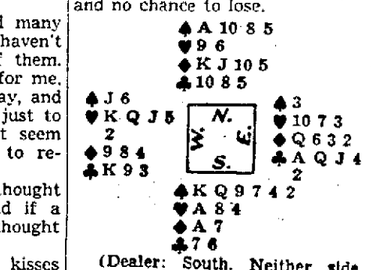
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

PLAY IT SAFE, TOO.

TRYING for extra tricks above your contract is highly commendable, especially in match-play duplicate games, but sometimes you have a choice between the right and wrong way to do it. One course may produce the overtrick if it works, but cause defeat of the contract if it fails. The other alternative may involve no risk of the contract whatever, and still give you a good chance for your additional trick. As between these there is, of course, no argument. With one you stand to gain or lose, whereas with the other you have a chance to gain and no chance to lose.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠

West led his heart K to the A and South immediately dropped the trumps with his two tops, then studied the hand a bit—but only a bit. He saw that making four-odd was easy enough, with the loss of just two clubs and one heart. Then he saw that he could get an extra trick by discarding a clug on a diamond if the diamond finese would work. He tried it. East won with the diamond Q, took two clubs and switched to a heart, defeating the contract.

After the opening heart trick, two spades and the diamond A, South should have played to the diamond K, thus making sure he would lose no diamond tricks, then should have led the diamond J. If East ducked, he should have discarded a club on it. Then, if West had the diamond Q the contract was safe. If East had it, an overtrick was in the bag. Of course, if East covered the diamond J, South could ruff, then go to the dummy and lead the diamond 10, discarding a club and making five Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable).

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 16.

Particularly lively and sudden events may be expected on this day, with many developments of a surprising character. These will be attended by much doubt and perplexity because of side issues that are treacherous, subtle and even sinister. Be alert to all sorts of schemes, plots, illicit involvements and snares as well as open hostility or attack. There might be accidents, fires, theft or disaster. The private life is also afflicted, but over all are factors for progress and definite gain and good fortune.

Those whose birthday it is have a rather complicated year with which to cope. While there is augury of positive success, progress and increased possessions and finances, won by enterprise, ability, originality and creative genius, there also are pitfalls and plots of malicious and sinister intent. Beware of deception, subtle and open hostility, fraudulent entanglements and also sudden physical dangers. Be careful with the signiture and all writings.

A child born on this day may have much versatility, originality and creative ability.

FIGHT FOR LOVE + + + + + + +

By SYLVIA TAYLOR
(Copyright, 1940)

CHAPTER XX

Jennifer smiled.

"You can't win from me unless you tell him what you saw at the apartment house Even if you do you will suffer as much as I do I advise you not to tell, Miss Bright, if you want to keep your job."

"He won't fire me." Star asserted defiantly. "And while it is true that he may never fall in love with me, if he does I shall certainly have no qualms about you"

"Other girls have tried it before you," Jennifer remarked, powdering her flawless nose "But Milton Wood happens to be in love with me. He may play around with you while I'm gone, but don't be deceived by that I shall always be the one to bear his name and share his bank account"

Star shrugged Jennifer knew as well as she did that her words were a bluff. She would be wasting her time to try such a thing and if she did the first result would be the loss of her job Nevertheless she did intend to do all she could to comfort him. No wonder he was so cross sometimes His wife gave him no real affection He must suspect that something was wrong. Star vowed that while Jennifer was in Europe she would become so indispensable to him that he would never let her go

* * *

A dangerous game and no one knew it better than the girl who was for the first time in her life desperately in love. Nothing to be gained for herself but heartache and tears The more she permitted herself to care for him the more vulnerable she would be to pain She knew too well to believe that he would ever ask anything dishonorable of her and there was no chance of marrying him Jennifer would not be able to understand a love like that but why bother to explain to her? Let her think anything she pleased. The fear of losing him might bring her to her senses—since bearing his name and sharing his bank account were still important to Jennifer.

Three days later Mrs. Milton Wood sailed for Europe. There was a farewell party for her on the ship. Her photograph, gay and lovely, with her husband's orchids which Star had not been asked to select, pinned on the fur about her throat, appeared in the evening papers. A last-minute interview stated that she expected to spend a month or so in Paris and London where Mr Wood might join her later There was no hint of any marital rift, but Star knew that her employer was deeply depressed by his wife's departure. He rang for his secretary but she found him staring at Jennifer's picture with such a look of baffled defeat on his face that she went back into her own office

He was beaten and knew it He must guess that there was some reason for these continual jaunts away from him. As Star sat at her desk waiting, he rang for her again.

"How many times do I have to send for you?" he asked impatiently.

"I'm sorry," she apologized "I thought you didn't want to be disturbed."

Her voice was so sympathetic it soothed his irritation

"I beg your pardon Star I shouldn't have spoken to you like that. I'm tired. Too much work and too many late hours can ruin anybody's disposition"

"You have been busy," she agreed, taking the chair across from him.

"It's been hectic" he sighed. "Dinner parties every night for weeks. But I'm cancelling all social engagements for awhile. There is a limit to everything"

"Why don't you take a little trip on your cruiser?" she suggested.

His face brightened

"That's exactly what I'd like to do but I'm afraid there's no chance. There's a lot of work to be done on that boat before I take her out again But maybe I can do some of it next Sunday"

Star spoke carelessly but her heart was pounding.

"May I help you?"

She had expected him to refuse but instead he asked "Sure you want to?"

"Yes At least I can clean up the cupboards and put fresh paper in the drawers."

"I supposed you'd be spending Sunday with your boy friend," he surmised.

"I haven't any boy friend," she informed him "Besides, even if I did, I'd rather help you'

* * *

He looked at her surprised and a bit amused at her confession but her manner was without sentiment Merely a statement of fact

'I'm afraid it's my boat you're interested in," he said smiling

Star smiled too.

"Maybe it is. I adore that little boat."

He beamed as if she had paid him the highest compliment, then his face fell.

"My wife doesn't share your enthusiasm. She has never even seen it."

"Perhaps she is a poor sailor," Star said innocently

His eyes met hers as if he knew she was trying to comfort him For one instant he permitted her to see the bitterness he had been trying to conceal, then he said lightly. "Anyway, it's a date for Sunday. Yes?"

"It's a date," she repeated

He suggested calling for her but Star refused, insisting that she would meet him at the yacht harbor She wanted to stop first to see her mother.

* * *

Star found Mamie in the dolldrums again. Mrs Brady had asked Mamie to go out with her but she didn't have anything to wear. If she could afford a new coat . . . but of course she couldn't out of what Star was giving her . . . It was too cool not to go out without a coat, etc.

Feeling more generous than usual with the prospect of her own day with Milton Wood ahead of her, Star promised to draw the necessary amount from her savings account. It would clean it out, she reflected But it was true; Mamie did need a new coat.

"I can wear the dress I bought for Mrs Lambert's dinner," Mamie reminded her.

How long ago that dinner seemed. Her engagement to Bob had never been real to her. Now she felt as if it had never happened.

"Number 11 is vacant again," Mamie confided. "He told Mrs. Brady he was going away. But if you as me . . ."

Star said, "I'm sorry, Mother, but I have to run. I promised to meet some one."

"In that old sweater and skirt?" Mamie ased disapprovingly "You certainly aren't dressed up."

"No," Star smiled, telling nothing. "Well, good-bye! Want me to go with you to buy the coat?"

"Mrs. Brady said she would be glad to help me if I could afford to buy one," Mamie answered 'You won't forget to bring the money tomorrow?"

"I won't forget," Star promised.

* * *

She fairly ran down the stairs she was so glad to escape. After all, the remainder of her savings black letters on the front—Adventure for freedom And Mamie showed only too plainly that Mrs. Brady's companionship was preferable to her daughter's.

The day was fair and softly bright. The smell of turning leaves was already in the air but the sun was warm. Star's heart raced as she walked pst the row of boats to the trim little craft which belonged to her employer. There was the name printed in blac letters on the front—Adventuress. And Milton, in the same disreputable clothes he had worn the night he followed her, wielding a paint brush which he flourished recklessly in her direction.

"It's about time you're getting here" he cried

If she had doubted her welcome, his greeting would have reassured her.

The moment she walked upon the deck completet release came to Star's troubled spirit. She recalled that first night, after he had stopped her on the pier, when she had told him secrets she had never confided to any one else. The knowledge that Jennifer had never set foot on board gave Star a feeling of possession. The day and the boat were theirs. They would make the most of it. Live it as if there were never to be another.

ARIZONA, HOW COME?

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(UP)— Historians and archeologists are taking part in a friendly dispute over the origin of the word "Arizona." Some argue it is derived from the Aztec word "Arizuma," meaning "silver bearing" Others say it is a derivative of the Papago Indian word "alehzon," meaning "small springs."

Check Pilot's Story of Mid-Air Fight With Author

POLICE TOLD PRESS AGENT KILLED HIMSELF

Flier Says He Steered Falling Plane to Avert Crash on Crowded Streets in N. Y.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(U P)—The body of Emanuel Eisenberg, one of New York's leading press agents, was found on the shore of New York bay today not far from where the plane in which he had been a passenger crashed yesterday after a struggle in mid-air between Eisenberg and the pilot.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—An airplane pilot who said he had heroically battled a demented passenger and veered his falling plane away from New York's crowded streets into the bay, was placed under $5,000 bond as a fugitive today while his strange story and the passenger's disappearance were investigated.

The pilot, Joseph Rosemarin, 38, co-owner of the Standard Flying service at Floyd Bennett field and a veteran of 13 months service with the Spanish Loyalist Flying corps, was in a hospital at Jersey City, N. J., suffering from shock.

Jersey City police had tentatively identified the passenger, believed drowned, as Emanuel Eisenberg, one of New York's best known press agents, a poet and author. Eisenberg was missing in any event, a servant at his apartment saying he had not been there since yesterday morning, and Jersey City police were convinced, on the basis of the pilot's story, that whoever the passenger was, his death was suicide.

The little plane, a student model, was seen fluttering in distress over New York's financial district yesterday evening. It veered over the water, past the Statute of Liberty, and pancaked near the Jersey shore. A tugboat picked up Rosemarin, who stood waist deep in water on the half-submerged wing, and towed the plane in.

When it was raised, there was no body in the cabin but one of the tugboat men said he thought he saw a body fall into the bay during the towing.

When he had recovered from the first shock, Rosemarin said a passenger unknown to him, went berserk during a sight-seeing trip, jammed his knee against one set of the dual controls to throw the plane into a spin over one of the most conjested parts of New York, screamed incoherently as they fell and pummeled the pilot who was trying to avert disaster.

Files Fugitive Charge.

While the pilot was receiving the acclaim of fellow airmen, Assistant District Attorney Joseph A. McKinney of Staten Island, one of the New York City boroughs, went to Jersey City last midnight and charged him with being a fugitive from justice. He said the charge was filed so Rosemarin could be returned to New York. Jersey police understood that McKinney planned to charge Rosemarin in New York with assaulting his passenger. The $5,000 bond was fixed at Jersey City. Physicians said Rosemarin probably could leave the hospital today.

Meanwhile, James Peyton, jr., of the civil aeronautics authority, and C. L. Payton, of the New Jersey department of aviation, began separate investigations.

Mansfielders who are planning to see the cherry blossom festival in Washington are advised by Auto club to "hold their horses" until a definite date is set. It was announced that it would be held sometime during the first week of April, but this may be set back as much as two weeks, depending on the weather—and the cherry blossoms. The date will be announced as soon as the weather breaks—if it ever does—and the cherry trees show signs of life.

Few in the city are pulling harder for the Cleveland Barons to get into the championship hockey playoffs than the City league basketball players. Tired of banquets and speeches, the cagers decided to do something different to celebrate the close of the 1939-40 season, and voted unanimously to take a Cleveland trip for a hockey game. The Barons must win a couple of games this week to reach the playoffs. If they fail, the cagers will probably be forced to take a banquet. Only a few of the 50 players in the league have ever witnessed a hockey game.

IDEAL WORKERS VOTE MARCH 22

An election among production employes of the Ideal Electrical and Manufacturing company to determine if the United Electrical, Radio and Machine union, a CIO affiliate, or no union shall represent plant employes as a bargaining agent, has been scheduled for March 22, it was announced today.

Date for the election which will be held among the 1500 production employes at the plant was agreed upon at a meeting at the company offices Wednesday.

ELEVATOR STICKS, 'IMPRISONS' CLEVELAND MURDER CASE JURY

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — The jury deliberating the fate of youthful John L. McCormick, accused of murder, was imprisoned for seven minutes today—in an elevator.

A mechanical failure stalled the lift between floors in the criminal courts building as the nine women and three men were returning to resume deliberations. The case was placed in their hands at 3:25 p. m. yesterday and they were locked up over night.

Keeping vigil in the nearly empty court room were Mr. and Mrs. Woods McCormick, parents of the 21-year-old Pittsburgh university senior, and Mrs. Signe Nichols widow of the man he killed. No word nor glance passed between them.

Four verdicts are possible: First-degree murder, making the death sentence mandatory; first-degree murder with mercy, providing life imprisonment; finding the youth insane, meaning he would be committed to a state hospital; or acquittal.

McCormick, son of well-to-do Pittsburgh parents, shot and killed Theodore Nichols, a special policeman, while holding up Western Union's main office here Jan. 8—one month after he dropped out of the University of Pittsburgh.

He testified intense family arguments led him to rob Western Union offices at Fairmont, W. Va., and East Liverpood, O., and then commit the fatal holdup here.

"My mother and father regarded me as an obstruction in their domestic lives," the black-haired youth said. "My mother wanted me to study all the time and go to Sunday school and prayer meetings. I guess I was stubbornly foolish."

McCormick's parents moved from their Pittsburgh home Dec. 16 and went to a hotel after an argument with the youth.

FARM SENATORS SEEK TO HALT STORMY DEBATE

Bring Pressure to Speed Up Action on Long Delayed Agricultural Bill.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Farm state senators, anxious to begin debate on the delayed agriculture department appropriation bill, threatened another attempt today to sidetrack the proposed amendments to the Hatch "clean politics" act.

Chairman Richard B Russell, (D Ga), of a senate appropriations subcommittee in charge of the $923,000,000 farm bill, warned that he would try again to bring it up unless an immediate settlement of the Hatch proposals is effected by the senate leadership. Russell's first motion to take up the farm bill was defeated Monday.

As debate on the Hatch amendments, which would ban federally-paid state employes from political activity, entered its 11th day, there appeared to be little hope of an early vote.

Cheered by passage of an amendment which would define political contributions exceeding $5,000 as "pernicious" political activity, opponents of extension showed no signs of dropping charges that Hatch's proposals are unconstitutional and in violation of states rights.

Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley tried twice yesterday to win unanimous consent agreement for a vote. First, he proposed a vote at 5 p. m. today, which was blocked by Sen. Elmer Thomas, (D. Alka.) then he attempted to limit speeches on the bill and amendments to it to 20 minutes each after 2 p. m., today. That was vetoed by Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo, (D. Miss.).

Sen. Carl A. Hatch, (D N.M.), author of the original ban against political activity by federal employes and sponsor of the extension amendments, was not in the least downhearted at passage of Sen. John H. Bankhead's proposal limiting political contributions.

"It might produce new votes for my amendments," he said. "Many of us have long wanted a limit on political contributions. I voted against the amendment myself because Sen. Bankhead intends to vote against the ultimate passage of the bill."

Under the Bankhead amendment, persons who directly or indirectly gave more than $5,000 during any calendar year to a political party would be liable to a fine of not less than $5,000 and a jail sentence of not less than five years.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR

SPRINGFIELD — (ANS) — Authorities today investigated the death of Mrs. Bessie Fessler, 46, whose crushed body was found in her wrecked car in a ditch along state route 4 in Greene county. She was reported missing Wednesday.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Tales From Times Square.

John Buckmaster, the young English actor who is currently packing in the customers at the Algonquin Supper club, was sitting with a group the other night telling friends about the wedding of his sister to Robert Morley in London recently.

It seems that Buckmaster and Morley became great friends during the New York run of "Oscar Wilde," in which Buckmaster, who is Gladys Cooper's son, played the role of Sir Alfred Douglass. When Morley was leaving for England, it seemed only natural that Buckmaster should tell him to be sure to look up his sister, whom Morley had never met. Go 'round and have tea, he suggested.

So when the somewhat surprised Buckmaster received a cable informing him that his sister was about to become Mrs. Morley, he cabled his friend Robert.

"I just told you to look her up. Aren't you overdoing it?"

Guess.

Chicquita Venezia is a Latin glamor girl who sang, until a few nights ago, at the Club Caravan in the Village, where she was much admired by some of the better known playboys in the Latin colony. One of them, the owner of a prosperous Broadway conga-and-rhumba spot that has only one rival among the Latin places, just demonstrated his ardor by presenting Chicquita with a sleek and purring car.

The car comes in very handy to Chicquita, because every night she uses it to call for her boy friend—the bandleader in the rival Latin spot!

Squelch.

A "big shot" without a sense of humor is a terrible bore, and a "big shot" with one is a rarity. One of the latter is William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors. Knudsen was surrounded not long ago at the Surf club in Miami Beach by a group of wealthy men who fawned on him a little too much. One of them shook hands and said: "I'm Mr. So-and-So, second top man at Fisher Bodies."

Knudsen lifted his eyebrows. "I always thought," he said blandly, "there was only one top man!"

Description.

A well known motion picture actress strolled into the Coq Rouge the other evening in a gown that would have sent the Hays office into a state of collective apoplexy.

"Look," pealed Brenda Forbes, the "Two for the Show" comedienne, "a dress with a double entendre!"

Miser.

The lads at the second district office of the Internal Revenue department are eagerly awaiting the income tax returns of one local citizen, whom the boys, despite their civic impartiality, are inclined to regard as eccentric. It seems that last year the fellow figured out his income tax, discovered it amounted to four cents, and elected to pay it quarterly.

So every three months the government mailed him a bill, and every three months he sent his Uncle Sam a one-cent stamp.

Unidentified.

The photographers who took advance pictures covering the opera performance for the Free Milk Fund for Babies discovered a small Harlemite who belongs right in Ripley's catalogue.

It happened when Joe Louis posed in Mike Jacobs' office surrounded by pickaninnies who get free milk from the fund. The kids were goggle-eyed at being so close to their national idol—all except one.

This was a tiny colored boy whom the cameraman stood on a table and instructed: "Now put your arms around Uncle Joe."

The pickaninny looked up at the Brown Bomber's friendly bulk and piped:

"Uncle Joe? Who's him?"

* * *

Appropriate.

A few weeks ago the NBC officials, alarmed at the publicity garnered by the record machine companies who have been boasting they "made" the big bands, decided to prove it was the networks and not the needleworks that helped the public choose its favorite bands.

So after a big conference the network executives selected orchestra leader "Spud" Murphy, a former Benny Goodman arranger, to "guinea pig" an experiment. Murphy's orchestra would be built up on the air, and forbidden to make records. In six months, if it became a popular band, the nation would know that the "juke boxes" had nothing to do with it.

Spud agreed to the arrangement, and the NBC officials were enthusiastic about him. In fact, to show how much they liked him, they brought him an expensive gift for his home—a brand new super-electric phonograph!

Tarzan.

At Bill's Gay Nineties the other evening some merrymakers were discussing a Broadway playboy who is becoming famous for his pugilistic tendencies.

"Is he as aggressive as they say?" someone asked.

"Aggressive?" shuddered Barry Wood. "He's 185 pounds of fist!"

Not Social.

Joan Abbott overheard a society matron in Colbert's complaining that she couldn't understand why on earth the papers had devoted so much space to the arrival of the Queen Elizabeth.

After all, the dowager said you had to admit, there wasn't anybody aboard who mattered!

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—I watched an actor buy a hat today and the deal told a deal about his past.

Morgan Conway needed the headgear for a scene he was about to do in "The Saint Takes Over." A haberdashery had sent over a selection. In short order Conway had found the style he wanted—in brown, which he didn't want but would do for the picture. The selection included no blue, which he did want.

"I'll buy this one," he told the salesman, "if I may return it after this scene and exchange it for a blue—when you get a blue in stock."

That was the deal. Nothing sensational about it—except that most actors would have bought the brown, for the one scene, and later bought another blue. Conway had no use for brown in the wardrobe which, like all actors in modern roles, he must supply himself for films. He also has no use for tossing away ten bucks without a thought. Actors do, but no business man would—and business is Morgan Conway's past.

Conway is a character lead—tall, good-looking, slightly greying, still in his thirties. He has been featured in 20 pictures in the past two years. That is good business in any language.

One day in 1932 Sidney Conway (his real name) was walking past a New York theater en route to his realty office, the site of which is now swallowed in the vastness of Radio City. He noted a lobby poster announcing Katharine Cornell and James Rennie in "Alien Corn." The title struck his fancy, he paused to study it. "I'll have to see that," he mused, as a Cornell fan.

About eight months later, the Pasadena Community Playhouse offered Greta Keller, the continental star, in "Alien Corn"—with Sidney Conway. It happened this way:

"I'd had my own brokerage business for 11 years," he says. "I hung on until 1933, even after the panic of '29, but I finally had to close my office. I came west, looking for a new start. I thought of oil. I was trying it when I met an agent who wondered if I'd ever thought of acting. I hadn't. Want to try? he asked. I went into a little theater production, and then did 'Alien Corn' in Pasadena. I got by, and got picture offers. Went into 'Looking for Trouble' with Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie. Good part. So my then agent thought I was good—held out for $1,500 a week. I wasn't worth it and we got no takers.

"Nothing happened so fast and so long that I went back to Broadway—as an actor. It was tough—more than three years of it. Shows that rehearsed, opened, closed. I hung on, borrowing on my insurance. Finally I came back here, cold. I was lucky—right away I got into a picture at Universal, and my luck hasn't failed since. It's a great business—but I haven't been fishing yet."
